Local property management company offers free month of online mental health counseling

from Becki BRONSON

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

In what is believed to be a first of its kind partnership, a property management company in Cedar City, Utah has partnered with an online mental health counseling service to provide all their tenants with one free month access to mental counseling. NetGain Property Management Services in Cedar City has teamed with online mental health counseling service, BetterHelp, to offer a free month online counseling services to their tenants.

NetGain owner Derek Morton, who has served on boards for local poverty organizations, says more than ever, it's critical to address mental health and remove the stigma of getting treatment for it. "Mental health issues plague every age group in Utah," says Morton. "And now with the many impacts being felt by COVID, it's even more essential to make sure that my tenants are connected to these services, in a way they can most easily access them. Providing a free month allows our tenants to try it out, and see if it's a good fit for them, without any out of pocket expense."

The free month is being donated, with no increase in rent or other fees. Morton says that in the over 10 years he has lived in Cedar City, he has seen firsthand the need for better access to mental health services. "In my role as a board member for different community organizations, it was troubling to see the high rates of depression and anxiety," says Morton. "It's something that became important to me to find possible solutions, and is what pushed me to try something new that would help my tenants and address this problem. So, I reached out to several different counseling services and BetterHelp was thankfully a very willing partner."

Morton says he feels that by providing this free month it will reduce some of the many barriers that are in place that stop people from accessing mental health services. "I know that mental health is every bit as important as any other healthcare we receive and, in many ways, more so," he shared. "I wish more people understood how difficult it is for a person to tackle important issues in their life, such as when they can't get out of bed in the morning because of depression. How does one hold a good job when their anxiety is so high that they can't focus or function? When I first started Netgain Property Management Services four years ago I was amazed at how different the responses my tenants would have when the stresses of life would hit. The difference in responses to the stresses of life can mean the difference between finding solutions that will allow them to maintain stability in their life, or lose that much needed stability. My hope is that through this partnership my tenants will be better equipped to handle the stresses that inevitably come."

Kfir Eyal, Sr. Director, Sales & Partnerships of BetterHelp says, "We are excited and proud to launch this partnership with NetGain Property Management Services to provide the benefit of online counseling during these uncertain and unprecedented times. It's more important than ever to take care of our health – both mental and physical. Connecting tenants with our licensed counselors for convenient and confidential counseling will provide them with the opportunity to do just that."

A rose by any other name

The opinions stated in this article are solely those of the author and not of Iron County Today.

I appreciate your comments and questions regarding past columns and events. Here are answers to some of you contacting me this summer.

THE ELECTION — A reader telephoned me to say I wasn't considering all the dangers in the coming Trump-Biden presidential election. He agreed that Trump was generally unpopular, but thought Trump could pull out a victory due to "Kanye West's siphoning off minority voters in swing states." Republican operatives, he said, were helping Kanye get on the ballot as a way of preventing a Biden tsunami of young, black voters.

I agree that any votes for the bipolar West would dilute the Biden total, but I question how many Kanye supporters are actually included in the pro-Biden polls. Still the reader has a point; without the small Green Party vote in 2016, Hillary would be our president today.

TEAM MASCOTS — Numerous readers have asked my opinion on the move to replace Native American references on sports teams. This is murky territory since, as a non-Native American, I hesitate to judge what is offensive to a harshly treated ethnic group. But here are a few thoughts...

The derogatory "Redskin" name needed to be removed since it reflected a presumed violent nature of our original settlers. Similar is any sports-oriented reference to the "trail of tears" (one of the most horrific episodes in American history) and the games reflects a war-like stereotype, the name "Braves" is, to me, a simple reference to young members of a tribe. It doesn't contain a negative reference; if anything, bravery is a positive trait. If "Braves" is removed, should atheists or secular-hating evangelicals ask the Los Angeles Angels to change their name? And to take it to a ridiculous but logical conclusion, should the Knights of Columbus organization balk at the Las Vegas Golden Knights hockey team?

There are more important challenges in the Native American community than stressing about vanilla-flavored mascots, and those still uncomfortable should take note of how the University of Utah "Running Utes" handled the concerns.

CONFEDERATE STATUES — While I wouldn't personally have a stroke while passing a Stonewall Jackson or Robert E. Lee statue, let's be honest: These men were not mere historical figures, but also traitors to the United States of America. (Remember the "united" in the United States.) We wouldn't allow statues of Adolph Hitler in neighborhoods with large German populations, and we made sure Germany tore down such markers. It hasn't been that long ago since Americans cheered the Iraqis toppling statues of Saddam Hussein, so it is hypocritical of us to complain about the demolition of Confederate beacons.

recently-changed "Redmen" mascot in Cedar City.

While I don't find the "Cleveland Indian" disrespectful to indigenous people, I acknowledge that no sports team would identify themselves as the "Cleveland Negroes." To me, the jury is still out on the Indians name.

Changing the "Braves" name, however, is less reasonable. While the "Tomahawk Chop" at the Florida State football or Atlanta Braves baseball

From the Editor

What matters most

During the week, people from our local community (and even from out of town) stop by our offices to drop off news, chat about the news and offer ideas and gratitude for our local newspaper. This past week, one of our valued visitors came in with a homemade T-shirt bearing the message; "All Lives Matter. All are the Children of God."

To some this mantra is a belittling battle cry. To others it's a biting dog whistle, or righteous rhetoric. Regardless, with all the messages, causes and ensuing chaos en masse; can we each at least agree that—whether we are religious, political, apathetic, atheistic, fence-sitting or feces-flinging—we need more compassion in this world, especially right now? Fighting amongst ourselves will only lead to more fighting. As a friend of mine shared, "What we feed, we breed."

We don't all have to agree all the time, but can we at least agree that fighting back and back-biting will only cause more backlash? I also hope we can agree that when we're always en garde, it creates barriers which will keep us from regarding, appreciating and protecting what matters most—each other.

China packages potential scams

I ordered a LEGO set from an online store and ended up receiving a mask in the mail 2 months later. I didn't immediately put two and two together and threw the mask away worrying about what it potentially was laced with, etc. Then after having disputed the purchase with Paypal and receiving the tracking number from the seller that confirmed the package was sent and received, I realized that the mask was actually my purchase and I had just been scammed.

The seller, by sending me a package and having a tracking number that confirmed I had received it, would have been an ordeal to prove I didn't get the LEGO set I ordered. Luckily, I realized that this might be the case and I retrieved the package from the trash, confirmed the tracking number on the package and now I will send the package back to China. It's not been that simple though as I ordered the LEGO set on May 6th and still have yet to figure out what address to send the package back to as the address provided was written in Chinese and I still haven't received a refund.

It's been one heck of an experience for both me and my daughter as she bought it with her own money and I'm making her go through the experience with me so she learns a valuable lesson but at $79.99, it's killing her!

So, just an interesting thing to experience as I'm reading about other people receiving random things from China and I wonder if they might be waiting for something else that they ordered that might never be coming. Had I not retrieved the mask from the trash and didn't have it to send back to the seller, I wouldn't be eligible for a refund.

Thanks,

Jenny Welch

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENTS

Flu shots may reduce Alzheimer's risk

WASHINGTON, DC – The Centers for Disease Control [CDC] says it is particularly important this year that we get our flu shots because the coronavirus has put an unprecedented strain on America's healthcare resources. As CDC epidemiologist Mark Thompson put it in a recent article published by NPR: "No year is a good year to get the flu, but this year — with COVID-19 also raging — it's especially bad."

Recalling the deadly outbreak of the Spanish Flu in 1918, the same article described the need to promote the flu vaccine this year as "arguably the most important U.S. effort to prevent influenza's spread among Americans in a century."

"Indeed, there is an extensive list of the benefits of flu shots, the newest of which is research that shows the flu vaccine and the pneumonia vaccine are linked to a reduced risk of Alzheimer's Disease," reports Rebecca Weber, CEO of the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC].

Weber explains that research reports presented at the Alzheimer's Association International Conference recently show that flu shots may reduce the risk of the disease. She cites an Alzheimer's Association news release that describes several separate studies.

One of the studies was conducted by a team led by researcher Albert Amran at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston. They used a nationwide database 9,000 individuals 60 years of age and older and found that those who had a flu shot had at least a 17% lower risk of Alzheimer's.

Another study carried out at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina by Dr. Svetlana Ukraintseva found the Alzheimer's risk for people between the ages of 65 and 75 who had been vaccinated against pneumonia was reduced by as much as 40%. That study was conducted among 5,146 participants.

The Alzheimer's Association chief science officer, Dr. Maria Carrillo, noted that the research presented at the Association's conference "calls for further studies in large, diverse clinical trials to inform whether vaccinations as a public health strategy decrease our risk for developing dementia as we age."

Pep rally Set for 2020 Walk to End Alzheimer's

A virtual pep rally for the 2020 Cedar City Walk to End Alzheimer's is scheduled for 4 p.m. on August 20. The pep rally will be hosted using an online platform and guests need to RSVP for the meeting link. They may do so by contacting Mike Miller, regional manager for the Alzheimer's Association, at mjmillier@alz.org or (435) 238-4998 x8773.

"We have not canceled our Walk this year, in fact, we are walking everywhere," said Miller. "Our resolve is stronger than ever, because the need is greater than ever!" he continued. "The isolation that caregivers for people with Alzheimer's and other dementias face is fierce right now, and families desperately need the resources we offer. That's why we walk."

But instead of gathering in one location as a group of 350 to 400 people as they did in 2019 at SUU; this year individuals will walk in small groups and teams on side-walks, tracks and trails across Iron County and beyond. This includes people's favorite trails, neighborhoods where they live, parks, and business locations.

During the pep rally guests will learn details about the newly formatted September 19 Cedar City Walk, including how to use the new mobile phone app, allowing walk participants to hear keynote speakers, access resources, track their walk steps and more. They will also learn about fundraising tools that can help their efforts to raise money to provide care and support to families during these difficult times, while also advancing critical research toward methods of treatment and prevention.

Those wishing to register for the September 19 walk now may click on www.alz.org/walk or text AlzWalk to 51555.

COVID-19/ Legislative Update

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

Next week, the Legislature will hold monthly interim committee meetings and appropriations subcommittee meetings and is planning to convene for a special session on August 20 to address issues related to COVID-19. The Utah State Capitol is still closed to the public due to health concerns, but the proceedings will be live-streamed on le.utah.gov as well as broadcast on television – Senate floor time will be on KUEN channel 9.2 and Comcast channel 388 House floor time KUEN channel 9.3 and Comcast channel 387. The bill files will be available for public review at le.utah.gov. I would love to hear your thoughts after reviewing the bills.

On Friday, August 14, the Utah Department of Health reported 716,883 total COVID-19 tests administered, 45,976 total positive cases, 36,679 estimated recovered cases, 2,744 total hospitalizations, 171 current hospitalizations and 360 total fatalities. The Southwest Utah Public Health Department reported 3,288 total positive cases including 24 new cases, 2,764 total recovered cases, 5 currently hospitalized and 26 total fatalities. Iron county currently has 577 case; Beaver with 31 and Washington with 2,570 cases.

While daily case counts are not the most useful indicator of risk to the state, they can provide perspectives on trends. Data from last week shows that cases are beginning to decline. However, this does not mean we should ease up but maintain our efforts and continue to wear masks and practice beneficial hygiene measures.

During Gov. Herbert's weekly COVID-19 briefing, Nathan Checketts from the Utah Department of Health answered a series of questions about COVID-19 testing. You can watch here, (<https://www.facebook.com/GovGaryHerbert/videos/2702319093421710/>) starting at minute seven and ending at minute 25.

In partnership with the Utah Veterans and Military Employment Coalition, the Utah Department of Workforce Services is hosting a series of virtual employment workshops for Veterans, military members and their spouses. Find more information at veterans.utah.gov.

Our hospitals are noticing a decline in the number of non-COVID patients coming in for care. Utahns need not avoid receiving preventative care because of their fear of COVID-19. Utah hospitals are taking every precaution to make sure their facilities are safe, including having healthcare workers wear PPE, restricting visitors and implementing enhanced cleaning measures.

I will be providing these COVID-19 updates from a legislative perspective weekly. I want to hear from you and get your feedback, thoughts and ideas on what's happening in our local communities. Please contact me anytime at evickers@le.utah.gov. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Evan Vickers

Free online mental health support for Spanish speakers

from Sue WEAVER

DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR - NAMI UTAH

In recognition of National Minority Mental Health Month, NAMI Utah and Latino Behavioral Health (LBHS) are launching new online programs in Spanish, highlighting online resources offered by Latino Behavioral Health Services (LBHS). "Access to culturally relevant behavioral health services is extremely limited in Utah, but the need is tremendous," says Javier Alegre, Executive Director of Latino Behavioral Health Services.

In partnership with LBHS, NAMI Utah will launch its online family support group for family members supporting loved ones with mental health conditions in August. Facilitated by Latinos who have family members with mental health conditions, NAMI's Grupos de Apoyo para Familias can be life changing. These support groups provide a safe, confidential space for talking about a subject that is often stigmatized.

Estela Marquez, an online facilitator,

GABRIELA AND ESTELA HOPE THAT THE LAUNCH OF THE ONLINE FAMILY SUPPORT GROUP will help family members and loved ones with mental health conditions.

tor, said, "When I found NAMI Utah, I finally realized I was not alone, and I wouldn't be judged because there was mental illness in my family. I had a safe place to talk about very difficult things that I couldn't talk about with others." Ms. Marquez discovered NAMI Utah in 2008 when her daughter was struggling with mental health symptoms. So moved by her experiences in NAMI classes and support groups, she became a certified teacher and support group facilitator.

This fall, NAMI Utah and LBHS will launch En Nuestra Propio Voz (In Our Own Voice), an online one-hour seminar about mental well-being, presented by two people who share stories of their mental health journeys. For further information and to register for these free online support groups or seminars, contact Leticia Frias at leticia.lbhs@gmail.com or call LBHS at (801) 935-4447.

Additionally, Latino Behavioral Health Services has several online services including therapy and peer mentoring. Executive Director Javier Alegre reports that offering these services online is providing new opportunities, allowing LBHS to reach people who otherwise wouldn't be able to receive the support they need. Orchestra of Southern Utah announces plans for safe, adaptive concert season

by Tanisa CROSBY
FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

During hard times, music has the power to uplift and unite us; to calm our troubled lives and bring moments of peace and tranquility. Members of the Orchestra of Southern Utah (OSU) put together several performances on Facebook with musicians performing in their homes or in small ensembles throughout the Covid-19 Pandemic.

Looking forward, the Orchestra of Southern Utah board of directors has been talking about how to move forward with music and announce the plans for the 2020-2021 concert season. They have talked at length about the best ways to still provide music while also keeping the community, patrons, and musicians safe. It's with great pleasure that they look forward to being able to perform once again and to bring music to the community of Southern Utah. This concert season will be unique and adaptive; if things should prove to be unsafe for patrons or musicians, the Orchestra plans to continue providing ways that those who enjoy the music OSU provides can still enjoy. This flexibility is largely in part due to the repertoire that has been chosen for this season. Themes for this concert season will include Beethoven, a musical "visit" to Spain, a superhero themed Jubilee, and a young soloists concert. It is also why the Orchestra is looking to the community for support as OSU navigates through a unique concert season.

The Orchestra of Southern Utah plans to have a full and interactive 2020-2021 season. At the start of the pandemic, the Orchestra utilized their YouTube and Facebook pages performing mini-concerts, in which small groups got together to perform select pieces of music. OSU plans to further these endeavors by streaming and providing online concerts as we navigate and wade through the pandemic. Rebecca Hughes, OSU Manager stated, "[It is] our commitment to provide and uplift our community with music during these times." Hughes went on to really hit home the YouTube and Facebook platforms, stating that they have been "providing a feed of wonderful soul enriching music." Exploring online platforms and technology, the Orchestra has found ways to still perform and the Orchestra of Southern Utah is excited to provide concerts to a wide range of audiences that will allow people to enjoy the Orchestra concerts that they love from the comfort and safety of their homes.

A huge question that has been asked by many is, "What will the Orchestra do about Messiah"? With the generosity of local business support, the Messiah performances are free concerts put on by the Orchestra of Southern Utah every December. The music highlights the birth, life, death, and resurrection of Christ. The Orchestra is joined by a large scale

Cedar City Arts Council holds Summer Social

by Shay BARUFFI
IRON COUNTY TODAY

The Cedar City Arts Council held their annual Summer Social in the great outdoors on SUMA's Sam and Diane Stewart Family Plaza. The event featured outstanding musical performances by The Un4gettable String Quartet, recent mini-grant grant winners. Cyanotype artist, Hanna Dawson, displayed some of her beautiful creations and gave a humorous speech peppered with science jokes sure to make anyone chuckle. "Why did the mushroom get invited to the party? Because he was a fungi!"

Amalia Wells, a baker from Geneva, Switzerland, catered the event. She brought delicious cookies and quiches for visitors. Wells is also a very talented traditional Tole painter; many of her lovely pieces were on display. For more information about the Cedar City Arts Council visit: www.cedarcityartscouncil.org.

It's mini-grant time again!

CEDAR CITY ARTS COUNCIL

Suppose you are a painter who has been working at home for lo these six months. Your work has been shown on the Arts Council's Final Friday Art Walks and you had some pieces hang in The Grind for a while. But there is a decided lack of motivation to sit down and produce more of the same old stuff—no improvement, no learning going on. So, you go online and find a teacher who is giving virtual lessons in a medium that is new to you. You feel some excitement returning but haven't the money to buy the new materials that would be required. What could you do? You could apply for a Cedar City Arts Council Artists' Mini-Grant to purchase those new materials.

Suppose you are a new graduate of SUU's music department. Your primary instrument, a clarinet, has been adequate for five years, but your secondary instrument, the saxophone, is in bad need of some refurbishing. Knowing that being able to play two instruments is a great advantage on a job application, how can you afford to bring your sax up to a more professional level? You could apply for an Arts Council Artists' Mini-Grant.

Suppose you are a dancer who has just been recently hired as an assistant coach by a local dance school. All those years of classes every week are finally going to pay off, but your dance togs and several pairs of shoes have seen better days, to say the least. How can you upgrade your wardrobe to be appropriate to your new status as a teacher in the community? You could apply for an Arts Council Artists' Mini-Grant.

Suppose you are an aspiring young actor who was hired by the Utah Shakespeare Festival. A dream of a lifetime was fulfilled, but then the Festival was cancelled for the season and you find yourself delivering pizza. However, there will be a next year and you would like to show up on the first day with a make-up kit that doesn't look quite as shabby as your old one. How can you go online to order a real actor's make-up kit when people are chintzy with their tips for the pizza guy? You could apply for a you-know-what.

Or, what if you can't draw a sunflower, don't like the sax, haven't tap-danced in years, and would be terrified on stage? But you might have a book to self-publish, or a poetry workshop to attend to better teach your students to not be afraid of poetry. These and so many other artistic goals need just a little help to get off the ground. And that is where we come in. Apply for one of our Artist Mini-Grants. Who knows? We might see your idea to create and share with the community in the same light as you do: brilliant and worthy of financial support.

Visit our website for an application. Deadline is August 31st. www.cedarcityartscouncil.org choir, featuring many soloists, as they perform Handel's most performed and well beloved piece. "It might not look like it has in previous years," Hughes mentioned when asked about Messiah. "We are adapting and rolling with the times and needs of our community, and while it won't be our traditional Messiah experience, we are still planning on making it amazing and uplifting." Further details of how Handel's Messiah will work this year will be announced as we get closer to performance dates.

The Orchestra of Southern Utah is a community run Orchestra that is a nonprofit organization. It is primarily funded through ticket sales, state and private foundation funding, and business support and is a beloved part of the Southern Utah area. In the past, the Orchestra has hosted additional funding events, such as the Gold and Silver Soiree to help raise money to purchase new music and to help fund promotional materials for concerts. Many members are local musicians from within Southern Utah and are often volunteer members who come to perform and impart their love of playing music. This year, the Soiree was canceled due to the pandemic, and government funding and grants are uncertain. OSU is turning to their community during this time. While attending live concerts are still on hold due to COVID-19, it is important for the community to help donate to the orchestra in any way that they can. The Orchestra of Southern Utah "appreciate[s] any donations," Hughes stated. "A purchase of season tickets really helps support our community organization. We need the community's help now more than ever to continue providing the quality performances patrons and audiences have come to expect and love."

While this music season is sure to be one filled with a high learning and adapting curve, the Orchestra of Southern Utah is excited for a music filled season. Season tickets can be purchased from the OSU website at www.myosu.org and also at the Final Friday Art Walks. For more information on the Orchestra of Southern Utah, please visit the website www.myosu.org and follow the Orchestra of Southern Utah's Facebook and YouTube platforms. Mandarin serves up An experience for your taste buds

by Tom WATSON

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Across the town square area of Cedar City and across the street from the city's main library and wonderful park, is one of the best dining experiences this city has to offer, Mandarin. Located inside one of Utah Historic sites, the old Railroad depot; it is the perfect spot to have lunch or dinner.

Mandarin Chinese restaurant is an outstanding blend of traditional Chinese with a slight flair of Cantonese that makes all these amazing dishes stand out and the prices are all reasonable.

The menu is filled with everything from a mouthwatering Peking Duck, to the super delicious Sizzling Beef and Scallop. There's the wonderful Egg Drop Soup, Egg Rolls, not to mention the best Steamed Pork Potstickers I have ever eaten anywhere. Their best dish, in my opinion, is the Seven Star with Moon. This is a dish perfect for two or even three persons at one sitting. It is filled with Krab meat, Scallops, chicken, beef and roast pork sautéed with Chinese vegetables in a rich brown sauce, and surrounded with 4 fried wontons and their delicious Fantail Shrimp. Mandarin even has a special dish called, "I Don't Know." And no, I do not know what it is.

Top off your choices with hot tea, iced tea, or beverage of your liking and you have a meal fit for an emperor. Per family tradition, all the dishes are made fresh and comes from an old family recipe only three people know what the ingredients are therein. Of course, each diner receives a fortune cookie.

The Owner/Manager Kong Ling, and Co-Owner Raymond Lou are both experienced restaurateurs. Raymond also owns and operates Ninja Japanese Cuisine in Cedar City. Kong Ling and his family have been in the food service business for many years. Ling hails from Orlando, Florida. He is the second generation to own a restaurant and was brought up learning the business alongside his father and mother and the numerous restaurants they still own today. Ling said he wanted to make Mandarin like the old Asian 5000-year-old tradition of sword making (Tang Dynasty). Which means, making it strong and efficient and everlasting, and keeping the food excellent.

Mandarin has a great advantage from many other Chinese type restaurants. They have a secret weapon in their Head Chef Pan. Pan is a renown Chinese master chef from New York City and he knows everything about each and every dish at Mandarin. Have I made you hungry yet? Come in and relax. Look around at what is probably the best-looking (and tasting) Chinese restaurant in Utah. The entire experience will make you happy.

Mandarin is located at 241 North Main Street in Cedar City. Call for your reservation 435-708-1435, or go online and check out their menu, www.mandarincedarcity.com.

Canyon 2 Canyon bike ride returns

by Natasha LYE

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

BRYCE CANYON — Families and avid bikers alike are tuning up their bicycles as the annual Canyon 2 Canyon Bike Ride draws near. The fourth annual bike ride, sponsored by Ruby's Inn near the entrance of Bryce Canyon National Park, is needed now more than ever, as people are looking for a sense of normalcy, freedom and an excuse to get outdoors.

The Canyon 2 Canyon Bike Ride came to fruition as a 17-mile, ADA-approved, paved bike trail was built, connecting two iconic landmarks in Utah. Starting at Inspiration Point in Bryce Canyon National Park, this scenic trail winds its way through beautiful, rich red rock with fragrant Ponderosa pines outlining the pathway as users make their way to Red Canyon.

"The Canyon 2 Canyon Bike Ride is a family-favorite," said Lance Syrett, hotel general manager of Ruby's Inn. "My daughter has been doing it since she was seven and loves it. It's a great family-friendly ride that people of all ages can enjoy."

The annual bike ride is on August 22, 2020, guests can register online at rubysinn.com/canyon-2-canyon-bike-ride/. Registration opens at 6:50 am on the grass by the Bryce Canyon Shuttle Station in Bryce Canyon City. The bike ride is free, but space is limited. Participants are encouraged to sign up online to reserve their spot as soon as possible. Registration includes a t-shirt, shuttle rides, snacks along the way and each registered rider is entered into a prize drawing. For those who do not own a bike or are unable to bring their own, bikes can be rented from the Sinclair Station.

The shuttles will chauffeur riders and their bikes to the starting location at Inspiration Point inside of Bryce Canyon National Park. They will also be ready to offer rides back to Ruby's Inn at the end of the course. For anyone who is concerned or uncomfortable riding in the shuttles, they are welcome to use their own vehicles to shuttle.

The annual Canyon 2 Canyon Bike Ride was created in tandem by Ruby's Inn, Bryce Canyon City, Bryce Canyon National Park, Garfield County Office of Tourism and the Bryce Canyon Natural History Association (NHA), a non-profit organization partnered with Bryce Canyon National Park.

Slogan's Heroes (Part 2)

They say that M&Ms melt in your mouth, not in your hands. Well, that depends on how quickly you consume them, right? While they may not have time to melt in your hands, they will definitely melt if left in a hot car. My candy-coated counsel to you is that when you have something good in your life, enjoy it. Don't wait until it melts away in the heat of indifference or ignorance. Don't wait until birthdays, holidays, or special occasions, to make special memories and to tell and show someone, including yourself, how much they mean to you.

Also, just because someone says, Betcha can't eat just one, doesn't mean you need to prove them wrong and eat the whole bag of chips. It's like making mistakes. We've all made them and we're going to make more; hopefully not too many. Sometimes, once is enough. You live and you learn. That's the key to a happy life; learning from your mistakes. And the mistakes of your parents don't have to be yours. You can still be a chip off the old block, even if sometimes you need to break the mold and re-sculpt the patterns of the past to live and leave a better legacy for your children.

Ultimately, no matter how good a parent or child you are, you can't always have it your way. No matter how careful you are, you will still get in trouble for squeezing the Charmin. However, there are times when you may need to share the Charmin with someone whose tears need a friend. This reminds me of the reach out and touch someone commercials from AT&T. You may not think you can make a difference in someone's life, but you can, just by being yourself and reaching out. If you're the one who needs someone to reach out and remind you that you're a good person, and are worth loving and waiting for, reach out to me and tell me about it. I'll remind you.

Finally, like a good neighbor, you should strive to do the best you can to make a difference for others while also seeking happiness for yourself. While Coke will tell you that you can open happiness, I believe happiness must first be created within, then opened and poured out amongst family, friends and anyone else who needs a reminder that there is more joy to life than constantly relying on the relief from a plop, plop, fizz, fizz.

Also, just because America runs to Dunkin, doesn't mean America runs on Dunkin. No offense, but America is better than that. We run on freedom, family and faith. The proof is found in the at least twenty military mottos and the over a million brave men and women who defend each one of them, and each of us, every day.

So, no matter what your slogan, catchphrase, tagline, mantra, or mottos are in life that describe and inspire you, live life well.

FAITH

Hear the Shepherd's voice

JOHN 10:3-5, 14

If you didn't get a chance to witness last week's Cedar High football game during the double-overtime victory with the interception heard round the world (of Cedar City), it was quite the vindicating moment. While most may argue that the game should have been won or lost way before that epic heads-up play; sometimes the greatest victories in life come from and often only after, one's patience and perseverance to the very end.

How does football relate to life? On that field, even when mistakes were made, the players listened for, heard, recognized and relied upon the voices of their coaches. Amidst the cheering (and jeering) from the opposing team and the opposing crowd, they could still recognize the voices they trusted to not only call the right plays, but to calm, comfort and encourage them, especially when there were some disheartening dilemmas that could have cost them the game.

Each of us playing in the game of life will hear many voices (and vices) all vying for our attention and allegiance. There will always be good and bad voices. Certainly, these last few months we've been bombarded by voices of despair, anger, loneliness and perhaps especially fear. But there has been one voice that has never faltered or forsaken us. It is the voice of our Heavenly Coach, Jesus Christ. It is the voice that can not only be heard above all others, but when we tune in to hear those divine decibels, they will guard against and guide us through the distracting din and dirges of the world. His voice is always there for those with ears to hear.

If we cannot hear the voice of our Good Shepherd, how will we know which path to take or play to execute? We must stay tuned in to our internal reception and not allow it to be blocked by signals from unworthy sources. We can ask the

by Corey BAUMGARTNER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Lord to help us open, clean out our ears by removing the fear and healing our sinfulness to improve our reception and avoid deception.

How else can we better hear His voice above all the others? Through Prayer (if we also listen) and through studying His Playbook (Scriptures) we can become worthy wide receivers of powerful wisdom, comfort and courage from our Eternal Quarterback. Also, as we learn to listen better and keep our hearts in better shape and in tune, we will become better players and people on/off the field, on the sidelines, in the bleachers, or in the parking lot.

One final throw (thought); God doesn't move the goal posts. His voice, His divine designs (plays) and His love for you are the same yesterday, today and forever. (Hebrews 13:1-8) When you get tackled by temptation, or sacked by sin...listen for your Coach from the Cross to help you get back in the game (not stay stuck on the sidelines) and bear your crosses and overcome the world as He did (John 16:33).

“His voice is always there for those with ears to hear.”

BIBLE 101.2

The Big Quiz Gameshow

by Edy MEREDITH

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Why would anyone want to study ancient history? Hasn't civilization advanced since ancient times? I mean, don't we have many technological inventions that were not even available 40 years ago, let alone thousands of years ago? While these are interesting questions, they are also uninformed questions. What is the one element that is missing in the above questions? That element or factor is humanity. Humanity has not produced much progress and is still dealing with good and evil in much the same way it always has. So, a study in the written history of mankind will be beneficial. Therefore, let us study one of the most ancient books of all: The Bible, called the Book of Books.

This Book of Books has over 750,000 words in English versions. It is also estimated that since 1812 over 5 billion Bibles have been printed in many languages. Which country prints the most Bibles? China surprisingly enough comes in first even though there is only one Chinese publishing house allowed to print Bibles, and in 2012, its 100 millionth Bible came off its presses. That possibly means that the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) may have been busy burning some of those Bibles, although Bible burning has also taken off in the U.S. recently when on August 1, 2020 during the weekend, anarchists in Portland burned the Bible and the American flag. Burning the Bible was also popular in Nazi Germany starting in 1933.

I personally have found all history to be interesting so turning to a Book that covers a span of more than 4,000 years is very fulfilling, and I have learned a lot from studying the factual retelling of real events. While some doubters think that the Bible is mythological, evidence that we will consider next week keeps turning up that substantiates the many historical narratives found in the Bible. The following essential points are important:

» Historical narrative gives factual retellings of real occurrences and events;

» These books of the Bible are not based in myth; they are based in fact;

» As we study this, it is important to understand that these events happened whether we like it or not. Studying history is not about making us feel good, but about our learning from history;

» Historical narrative comprises at least 43% of the Bible with some estimates as high as 50%;

» Old Testament narrative is found in: Genesis, Exodus, Numbers, Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, Ruth, 1-2 Samuel, 1-2 Kings, 1-2 Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, parts of Job, and the Prophets;

» New Testament narrative is found in Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, and Acts.

How can we know that the events told in the Bible took place? Perhaps if you are still wondering about this you should ask yourself "How can I know anything?" Please then enroll in a college class Philosophy 101 which studies such elementary questions. Let us also look instead at ancient historians that we do accept as real: Herodotus born around 486 BC/BCE in present-day Turkey is known as the "Father of history." In his history masterpiece "The Histories" he declared that his purpose was to "prevent the traces of human events from being erased by time." He detailed the Persian Empire's expansion and clash with the city-states of Greece in the 5th century BCE/BC. His history remains the eminent source on the Greco-Persian Wars. Other ancient historians are Thucydides c.460-400 BCE, Xenophon c.431-400 BCE, Julius Caesar 100-44 BCE, Flavius Josephus 37-100 CE/AD, Sima Qian

The various books of the Bible and their authors should also receive our attention for their accomplishments in making sure that the traces of human events and their claim to witness God's interface with humanity do not disappear with the passage of time. If we fail to learn from historical narratives, we are doomed to repeat humanity's continued mistakes. OBITUARIES

Jack Randy Jones

Jack Randy Jones, 71, passed away Tuesday evening, August 11th, 2020 in Cedar City, Utah surrounded by his family. He was born November 16th, 1948 in Cedar City, Utah to Loa “Amber” Fullmer and Jack Harold Jones. He grew up in Cedar City, Utah, graduated from Cedar High School (with hardly ever attending), and completed trade school at Sevier Valley Tech where he learned to paint cars. He married the love of his life Kathleen Roberts on March 27th, 1971.

Jack Randy was one heck of a guy, a true man’s man. He was tough, hardworking and dependable with a truly brilliant entrepreneurial mind. Jack and Kathy owned several businesses in town over the years, starting with Hermies Drive-In, Hermies Depot and Hermies Too for 18 years starting in 1974. After that, he was a part of Leigh Floor Covering and Design and The Furniture Shop. In 2001 they purchased Cedar Bowling Center which the family still operates today. He loved the many employees he had throughout the years like they were his own flesh and blood. He was quick with a smile and preferred to laugh but at the same time someone who wouldn’t shy away from confrontation. A real patriot at heart, Jack served in the Utah National Guard’s 222nd Field Artillery from 1969-1975 and continued to support the unit and their family members by donating the Bowling Center to throw family Christmas parties. He was the perfect mix of tough guy and sweetheart.

Jack had a deep love, gratitude and reverence for God and was often found in prayer whether outside feeding the birds, attending an AA meeting or on his knees quietly praying anywhere in the house. He was a great influence on so many people in the community, especially those who were members of the AA program, where he held 2 meetings a week at the Bowling Center over 15 years. He was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

He was charismatic and charming. He made it so easy to like him without even trying. He loved to spend time with Kathy, Jackie and Nick, and to go on “camping” trips to The Little America Hotel in Salt Lake City any weekend that they could. He also loved his friends. To say you were friends with him made you feel privileged, special and important. He was genuine and always cared about others before himself. He had an extraordinary way to make you feel appreciated. He would pick out the most thoughtful, fitting, random, and funny gifts for everyone. His core being was kindness and his light is why so many were drawn to him. His presence was great and powerful but he was so approachable. He was incredibly honest and fair, always giving the benefit of the doubt, and second and third chances to all. His smiling eyes were the window to his kind heart.

Jack is survived by his wife Kathy, children Jackie (Jeremy) Jones and Nicholas Jones all of Cedar City. Grandchildren, Gentry, Jaxton, Logan; Brothers, Kevin Jones of Salt Lake City, Utah and Kirby Jones of Las Vegas, Nevada.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Jack and Loa “Amber” Jones, his infant brother Matthew, his infant nephew Brandon, his In-Laws Spencer and Mary Roberts and brother in law Doug Lindsay. A Viewing will be held on Thursday, August 20, 2020 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. at Southern Utah Mortuary (190 N 300 W Cedar City, Utah). A Celebration of Jack’s life will be held at a later date. Arrangements are under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online Condolences can be sent at www.sumortuary.com.

Jack would want everyone to remember to keep it simple, be grateful for every day that you are upright, vertical and breathing, and to take the time to hop in your hot rod and go for a cruise with a coke in hand and enjoy another day in paradise.

Paul Williams Swapp

Senior Master Sergeant Paul Williams Swapp passed away August 4, 2020 at home with his wife and son Jeff at his side. Between regular Air Force and the Reserves, Paul served 32 years for his country, which he was very proud of. During that time, he received multiple accommodations for his outstanding work.

Paul was born in Kanab, Utah, March 3, 1939, to Royal and Lois Swapp, the oldest of three boys. He graduated from Kanab High School in 1957 where he was very popular. He played basketball and served as student body president. Paul then went on to College at Utah State University. He lacked one semester of graduating, when he went into the Air Force.

Paul held several jobs before going to work for the Bureau of Land Management, which he retired from in 2000 after 26 years; he was assistant district manager. Paul met the love of his life Beverly in September 1976, he always told people “The first time I met her I knew I was going to marry her.” Four months later he got his wish. They were married February 17, 1977 and two years later, with their two boys Doug and Jeff, they were sealed in the St. George Temple on December 13, 1979.

Paul was an avid outdoorsman; he loved hunting, fishing and camping with his family. Dutch oven cooking was his specialty at every family gathering. In addition, he loved gardening and no matter where he lived, he always had a great garden which would produce a bounty of vegetables, which he was happy to share with everyone. Paul was also a champion trap shooter and has more gold medals than we can count.

Above all, his favorite thing to do was ATV-ing with his wife Beverly. They especially loved going to the Rocky Mountain ATV Jamboree in Richfield, which Paul helped start. The Gooseberry ride is dedicated to Paul Swapp, whose vision for the trail system and the Jamboree has helped to make them what they are today.

Paul is survived by his wife Beverly and children, Brian, Danielle, Douglas (Shiann), Jeffery, Granddaughter Brandy and a great grandson Brandon. Paul was preceded in death by his parents and brothers David and Lewis. The family would like to especially thank Amber and Sierra with Horizon Home Health for the loving care they gave Paul.

Richard “Skippy” K. Middleton

Richard Kay Middleton, age 52, passed away on August 7, 2020 in Cedar City, Utah. Two days later, he was followed in death by his father Ken Middleton whom Rick cared for until the end.

Rick was born June 17, 1968 to Ken and Garfae Middleton in Cedar City, Utah and remained in Cedar City throughout his life. Rick was extraordinary for the love, care, and compassion he had for his parents. He graduated from Cedar High School and Southern Utah State College with a Master’s in Business and Accounting. He also held a contractor’s license with which he built family homes and apartments for a while. He also held a Real Estate license at that time, but preferred taking care of the Middleton family farm with his nephew John.

Rick had a love for animals. His miniature donkeys, PJ, Pansy, Jack and JJ, his horses Bob and Bobette and his cat Fuzzy will miss him always. Rick and his “mini me” Ridge Middleton, enjoyed their late-night dinners and movies and most importantly their rides to the farm for some guy talk. Rick’s favorite place was on Cedar Mountain with John and Ridge, chasing sheep and working on the ol’ Middleton cabin.

Rick (AKA) Skippy was known for his bold voice and laugh and his unique sense of humor despite his long battle with anxiety. Skip has many friends and family who will definitely miss him, but we are at peace knowing he’s with his family he has missed for so long.

By Ricks request, there will be no services held. Rick was preceded in death by his only brother Paul Middleton, his best friend and mother Garfae and shortly after, father Ken. He is survived by his son Ridge W. Middleton, his nephew John Middleton, sister-in-law Rosemary Middleton, and sisters Laurel Cosslett, and Tamara Middleton, and his many nieces.

Wendy Clove

Wendy Ward Wood Clove, 67, unexpectedly left this mortal existence Sunday morning, August 9th, 2020, and was welcomed home to a joyful reunion and the loving arms of her Heavenly Father, her Savior Jesus Christ, her sister, her brother and her Mom and Dad. Wendy was born October 1st, 1952, the third child of Lloyd Clark Ward and Ruth Knell. She was born in Cedar City, Utah and was raised in her early years in Newcastle prior to moving to Cedar City where she spent the rest of her childhood. Wendy attended Westminster College in Salt City where she rode her motorcycle and embraced the hippie lifestyle all while working to receive her bachelor’s degree in Nursing. She passionately served as a school nurse for Iron County for over 25 years.

When you think of Wendy, one word comes to mind: caregiver. Her vocation was as a nurse, but her career path was more than a choice, it was her calling. Wendy was naturally drawn to those who needed her and who benefitted from her love, friendship, compassion and care. As a daughter, sister, wife, mother and friend, she never failed to be readily at hand during the best times, and the worst, never wavering in her commitment to those she loved. Wendy could always be counted on to be calm, pensive, and thorough. Her advice and opinions were sought often, not only in medical matters, but in the business of life. Her guidance was sometimes compassionate and soothing, and sometimes matter of fact and blunt, yet always, always underpinned with genuine love, concern and support.

Her beauty and charisma could have made her destined for Hollywood, but small-town roots run deep. Her true love of ranch life, family, and small joys were evidenced in her happiness spending time among nature and the cattle, family swimming trips to Veyo, hikes and concerts in Zion, mountain biking on the mountain, Salt Lake City shopping sprees, or simply snuggled on the couch with her girls and her dogs. Her greatest love in life was being a mother and grandmother. Her love extended beyond her own girls, to include their friends as well, treating everyone like family with open arms and a listening ear. That love was reciprocated by the countless and dear friends of all generations she made and kept throughout her life.

Wendy was an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She served in many callings in the church, but her favorite calling was serving the wonderful people of the Tribal Branch in Cedar City. She loves the Lord and has a firm belief in the Plan of Salvation. She also loved her pioneer heritage and had a strong respect for their sacrifice and hard work, something she strived to emulate each day. Wendy was also a free spirit who loved rock and roll music, art, and the beauty of the earth. You would often find her decked out in her favorite tie-dye shirt and dangly earrings jamming out to Neil Young or the Stones. She especially loved the red rocks of Zion, a beautiful sunset, and the smell of sage brush after a rain.

She married McRay Wood in Cedar City on September 9th, 1976. They were blessed with two beautiful daughters, Robyn Judd (Jordan), South Weber, UT; and Kaitlin Milne (Brian), South Weber, UT. Following McRay’s death, Wendy married Randy Clove on July 2nd, 2014 in Las Vegas, Nevada. They resided in Cedar City. She loved spending time out in the mountains with Randy and their sweet Australian shepherd Viv. Wendy had three granddaughters and two grandsons, whom she loved with all of her heart. Over the last six years she also enjoyed getting to know Randy’s 6 kids and 18 grandkids.

Wendy is preceded in death by her parents, her sister, Dorothy Carlson and her brother, Don Lloyd. Viewings were held on Friday, August 14th from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. and Saturday, August 15th from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Southern Utah Mortuary. Interment will be in the Cedar City cemetery under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. In lieu of tears, roll down your windows, put on your sunglasses, crank up your favorite rock and roll song, feel the wind in your hair, and smile and dance just like Wendy would. Online remembrances can be sent at www.sumortuary.com.

Mom met the love of her life, Dee Clyde Wilcox when she was 21 years old while working for her mother in the post office. After a brief courtship, they were married for time and all eternity in the Mesa, Arizona Temple on July 7th, 1961. Mom worked hard for her family throughout her life. She worked in two doctor's offices and for an ophthalmologist. She later formed a courier business that serviced several banks in Southern Utah; she drove over 200 miles per day on her route. She would always hurry back from her deliveries to attend her children's many activities.

Mom served in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for her entire life, she served as the Stake Relief Society President, in the Young Women's Program and over 35 years as Chorister for either the primary children or as the ward Chorister. She had a lovely soprano singing voice, and loved singing in the choir. She met and loved so many people as she organized beautiful musical numbers each week. She took great joy in her service and loved to listen, as others shared their talents in her ward. She was so grateful for the relationships she had with so many talented musicians throughout St. George. She especially loved the 5 years that she was able to serve as an ordinance worker in the St. George Temple. She loved the patrons and workers at the temple that she served with.

Mom and Dad made many wonderful friends over their lifetimes. They lived in Vernal, Utah where they spent over 15 years. They then moved to Cedar City for 8 years and finally settled in St. George, Utah for the last 30 years. Mom's greatest joys in life were always found in raising their four children, by whom she is survived. Brenda Hansen, Dianne (Todd) Plumb, David Wilcox and Jeanine (Ken) Nielson. She adored her 14 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren and would attend every game, recital, program, or performance within driving distance and was always cheering them on.

Mom was preceded in death by her parents, her brothers Cole and Lee, and her sister Joan Tanner. She is survived by an older sister, Annette Beckman. Mom was diagnosed with Cancer in 2012 and she fought the disease courageously since that time. She wanted to express her gratitude to her Oncologist, Dr. Derrick Halsem and the many medical professionals who assisted her throughout the past 8 years. Funeral services will be held on Saturday, Aug. 22nd at 11am at Spilsbury Mortuary 110 South Bluff Street, St. George, Utah. There will be a viewing from 10-10:30am at the same location.

Kenneth Middleton

Our sweet, loving, dad and grandpa, Kenneth Allen Middleton, passed away on August 9, 2020, at the age of 89. Ken was born in Cedar City, Utah, on March 20, 1931, the second of two boys born to Francis Holland and Sylva Knell Middleton. He spent his entire life in Cedar City, graduating from Cedar High School and Branch Agricultural College. While at college, he met the love of his life, Garfae Riddle. On January 25, 1952, they were married in Las Vegas at the little Church of the West. By then, he had already lost both his parents.

After his father's death, Ken continued the family farming operation, raising sheep, cows and alfalfa, until he no longer could. He spent many happy and frustrated hours at the farm with his two sons, Paul and Rick, and later, Paul's son, John. Ken was at the farm with Paul and John, in 1998, when Paul passed away suddenly and unexpectedly. This event devastated our family and Ken was never the same. Two days before Ken's passing, his remaining son, Rick, also passed away suddenly.

In his early years, Ken tried a few occupations to supplement the farm, but in the early sixties, he settled on insurance when he became partners with Dixie Leavitt in the first Leavitt Insurance Agency. He retired from Dixie Leavitt Agency in 1992. In 1972, he was appointed to the Utah Board of State Lands/Forestry and Fire control. Once a month, until 1979, he traveled to Salt Lake City to meet with the board. He spent his days working in an office as an insurance agent and evenings and weekends at the farm.

When he wasn't working, he loved spending time on the mountain, at Beaver Dam, and traveling the world with Garfae. He also spent a good bit of time at the Market Grill drinking coffee and gossiping. He was a hard worker and a great provider. He took care of his family well, and we all loved and adored him. He will be greatly missed.

Ken was the father of four children; Kenneth Paul (Rosemary) Middleton, Laurel (Rod) Cosslett, Tamara 'Tami' Middleton, and Richard Kay 'Rick' Middleton. He was adored by his 11 grandchildren, and ten great grandchildren. His grandchildren include; John (Natalie) Middleton, Krystal (Dan) Nydegger, Angela (Jesus) Martinez, Erin (Jed) McBride, LeAnn (Kent) Atwood, Keri (Brandon) Twitchell, Tasha Poitevint, Nicole (Thomas) Shannon, Alexa Middleton, Brianne Middleton, and Ridge Middleton. He maintained a close relationship with Paul's wife, Rosemary Ence Middleton.

He was preceded in death by his parents, his wife, Garfae, his brother, Robert 'Bob' Middleton, and his two sons, Paul and Rick.

A private family graveside service was held on Saturday, August 15, 2020. Arrangements are under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online condolences can be sent at www.sumortuary.com.

Reds work overtime, beat Dons in opener

IRON COUNTY TODAY

The script looked familiar to the Cedar Reds. The Spanish Fork Dons were on the other side of the football for the second year in a row, and 48 minutes wasn't enough to decide a winner.

Jaron Garrett and the rest of his teammates made sure the end result would be just as satisfying as the previous one was.

Garrett threw three touchdown passes, and Charlie Cook came through with an interception that sealed Cedar's season-opening 28-21 victory in double overtime Aug. 14. The play came after Jack Cook caught a 9-yard scoring pass on Cedar's possession in the second OT that gave the Reds their only lead of the night.

"I followed my man and thought the play would die out, but I saw the ball coming toward me and just jumped on it," Charlie Cook said. "This shows us just how good we are. Knowing with all the mistakes we made, we still had the drive to pull the win out, and that means a lot."

The first error by Cedar helped Spanish Fork take the lead into half-time. After Seth Brinkerhoff scored on a 5-yard run with 3 minutes, 20 seconds left in the second quarter, the Reds defense was denied a third-down stop after a pass interference penalty. When the Cedar bench objected, they were whistled for unsportsmanlike conduct that gave the Dons 30 free yards and the ball at the Reds 15-yard line.

On the next play, Zac Dart found Morley Bennett for the touchdown with 29 seconds left to give Spanish

Falcons defense tames Lions in season opener

PAROWAN LOSES TO START SEASON

by Tom ZULEWSKI
IRON COUNTY TODAY

Sophomore quarterback Jake Garrett threw four touchdown passes and the Canyon View Falcons pulled away in the second half to a 40-13 rout over the Payson Lions in the season opener played at home Aug. 14.

CV struck first less than two minutes into the opening drive when Garrett connected with Tyler Barton for a 60-yard touchdown and a 6-0 lead. Payson was able to counter on its opening possession with a 32-yard run from Tate Christensen, but the Falcons took full control after that, stretching the margin to 20-6 at the half and 33-6 late in the third quarter.

The Lions' only other highlight came on a 100-yard kickoff return from Isaac Canlas.

Garrett threw two touchdown passes to Tyler Maine, one from 31 yards in the first quarter and a 3-yarder in the third, and added a 12-yard scoring toss to Gunner Hatch. Hatch added a 3-yard touchdown run and Brayden Floyd found the end zone on a 2-yard run.

The Falcons will host Grand this Friday in a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Up in Parowan, the Ryan Heath era kicked off Aug. 14 as the Rams dropped a 33-14 decision on the road at Juab. The Wasps moved out to a 10-0 lead in the second quarter before the Rams scored its first touchdown of the new season on a 10-yard run from Easton Jense.

Juab would stretch the lead to 13-7 at the half after Ryker Richards hit a field goal from 22 yards, then added second-half touchdown runs from Jared Dye, Shan Jackson and Grant Orme to put the game away.

Parowan added a final touchdown with 1:57 left on a 1-yard run by senior quarterback Hutch Miller.

The Rams will travel again this week to Duchesne for a 7 p.m. kickoff against the Eagles.

Big Sky postpones all fall sports until spring 2021

Due to ongoing concerns related to the COVID-19 global pandemic, the Big Sky Conference is postponing all competition for its fall sports to spring 2021. The conference's Presidents' Council convened Aug. 12 to affirm this recommendation from its members' athletic directors.

This decision impacts all Big Sky sports that compete in the fall both for their championship season (men's and women's cross country, soccer, volleyball) and for their non-championship segment (men's and women's golf, softball, men's and women's tennis). Additionally, the Presidents' Council confirmed that non-conference contests will not be permitted in any Big Sky fall sport, including football. The Presidents' Council had decided on Aug. 6 to postpone the 2020 conference football schedule until the spring.

"While I am confident that our conference is making the right decision for the health and safety of our student-athletes, it breaks my heart knowing how disappointing this will be to all of them who were eagerly anticipating the opportunity to compete this fall," Commissioner Tom Wistrick said. "Our efforts in the conference office now will focus on doing everything within our power to make their spring season the best that it possibly can be, which includes advocating for their NCAA championships to be held then. As campuses begin re-opening this fall, we hope that everyone remains safe and healthy while we continue to learn more about how best to manage this fluid situation and its impact on higher education."

Big Sky institutions may continue with permissible athletics activities at their discretion while abiding by NCAA legislation, campus policies, and local and state regulations. Decisions regarding the Big Sky's winter sports (men's and women's basketball, men's and women's indoor track and field) will be made at a later date.

Sports go silent at Southern Utah

The rumors kept flying after the Big Sky Conference announced postponement of the football season to next spring. Non-conference games, including Southern Utah's long-awaited matchup with Dixie State, were still on the table to possibly be played in the fall.

The other sports were sitting in limbo, but the hope for their seasons to be played was still alive, even if barely registering a pulse. On Aug. 13, the plug was finally, perhaps mercifully, pulled when the Big Sky pushed all fall sports – including men's and women's golf, cross country, volleyball and women's soccer – to the spring of 2021.

Yes, we can thank this pandemic for all of it. The rumors and rampant speculation were difficult to deal with, but at least there's some closure. It's obviously not a favorable outcome, but it's the best one under the circumstances we're facing right now.

We have to wait to see if SUU football is on an upswing back toward Big Sky title contention. We have to wait to see the debut of women's soccer coach Kai Edwards. We have to wait and watch to see if Allison Pray's T-Bird teammates can join her at the NCAA Nationals, whenever they're allowed to happen.

No one likes to wait, but that's what we're stuck with right now. Sports, and the opportunities they provide student-athletes, won't happen again until we find ways to get COVID under control.

Cedar High grad Jasie York can't compete in her sophomore season for Utah in track and field, at least not for a while. She has to wait because our health as humans matters more. There are 23 states, including Utah, where the COVID case count has been trending downward, but 27 states are either "mostly the same" (22) or "increasing" (five), according to data from the New York Times.

Until all 50 states are trending downward, you can expect to see more stories like York's, and that's troubling for all of us. Dreams shouldn't have to be deferred.

-- High school sports have returned statewide, and that means we had football Aug. 14. Cedar and Canyon View had home games, and the scene at Cedar for the Reds' 28-21 double-overtime win over Spanish Fork felt weird.

The Cedar pep band wasn't belting out its musical memories, and the student section was moved to a corner of the track to allow fans to separate, at least to some extent. Reminders to keep social distance were given multiple times, and students weren't allowed on the field after the game to celebrate.

Masks weren't worn in abundance, but we had a start. Progress isn't always measured by leaps and bounds.

There was one note from the game worth sharing. It's always easy for some to be critical when kickers miss field goals that would have secured a win. In the case of Cedar sophomore Edgar Hernandez, he missed two chances in the final two and a half minutes of regulation, both from range barely past the length of an extra point (the second try was blocked).

But since games can't end in a tie, Hernandez got his second chance by hitting the extra points on both of Cedar's touchdowns in overtime. That's just as important because it kept the Reds alive and allowed the defense to finish the job, which they did with Charlie Cook's interception.

In addition to football, girls soccer played the last of its non-region schedule this week. Canyon View improved to 2-0 after scoring twice in the second half to win on the road at Juab, 4-2. Addie Newman scored twice, and the Falcons broke a 2-2 tie at the half.

Now we've hit the games that count as Region 9 play begins Thursday. Cedar (1-1) and the Falcons will start at home with the Reds hosting Pine View and CV taking on Snow Canyon. Both matches begin at 4 p.m.

Fork a 14-7 lead at the break.

"It comes down to 'been there, done that,'" Cedar head coach Josh Bennett said. "That's where the experience and leadership comes in."

The Reds were able to tie the game again midway through the third quarter when Garrett hit fellow senior Kolby White on a 1-yard touch-down. The Dons marched back down the field on its next possession to first-and-goal at the Cedar 7, but drew four straight 5-yard penalties that pushed them back. Dart threw an interception on third-and-goal from the 24 that halted the drive.

Cedar had a pair of chances to win in regulation, but sophomore kicker Edgar Hernandez missed a 20-yard field goal with 2:25 left and had a 22-yard try blocked with eight seconds remaining. He would hit both extra points in overtime to help the Reds keep pace and set up the chance at victory.

"We told Edgar 'we believe in you and have trust in you,'" said White, who caught a second touchdown in the first overtime from Garrett with a leaping grab from 12 yards out. "It's all about the adjustments because the play can go for three seconds or 10 seconds. We just gotta finish, and that's what our coaches talked about."

"We have to get the momentum going, and this win was a big motivator for us."

Cedar will host Juab on Friday in a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Can you imagine a world in which women do not have the right to vote?

How long do you think women in the United States have had the right to vote? 300 years? 200 years? 150 years?

In the United States, women have had that _____ for only 100 years of the 244 years we have been a country. And getting the right to vote took _____ of protesting and writing to lawmakers – who were all men at the time.

Meeting for Women's Rights

In 1848, a group of people met in Seneca Falls, NY to talk about the _____ women faced because they didn't have the same rights as men.

The word suffrage means the right to vote in elections. A suffragist is a person who fights for suffrage.

At that time, women could not own property, they could not vote and very few could go to _____.

This meeting was the first women's rights convention in the United States. At that meeting, men and women signed a document called, "Declaration of Sentiments and Resolutions." By signing, these people agreed to the _____ of what was becoming the woman's movement.

For more than 70 years, women and men _____, wrote letters and articles, protested and picketed to get an Amendment to the Constitution which would give women the right to _____. These people were known as suffragists.

Victory!

On May 21, 1919, the U.S. House of Representatives finally _____ the 19th Amendment, also known as the Susan B. Anthony Amendment, guaranteeing women the right to vote. But that was just the first _____. The U.S. Senate and at least three quarters of the states had to approve it before it would become the law of the land.

The United States Senate approved the amendment a week after the House.

On August 18, 1920, Tennessee became the _____ state needed to ratify the 19th Amendment.

One week later, on August 26, the 19th Amendment officially became part of the U.S. Constitution, forever _____ American women's right to vote.

Today, more than 68 million women vote in elections because of the courageous suffragists who never gave up the fight for equality.

In 1920, exactly 100 years after Susan was born, the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was passed, giving women the right to vote.

While Susan did not live to see women get the right to vote, in 1979 she became the first woman to appear on U.S. money.
