SUU Police Department weathers the storm

by Edy MEREDITH

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Thomas Paine, a Revolutionary American Patriot, said: "These are the times that try men's souls....Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph." In many of the crime ridden major cities in the United States we hear the cry to defund the police. Recently the Southern Utah University Police Department went through a similar turning point or crisis as university administrators reviewed discontinuing or defunding the SUUPD and contracting with the Cedar City Police Department to provide police services. A hue and cry went up from the SUU community as students especially and faculty objected loudly.

The students' demands and desires to continue to have a campus police department were heard and after a review, the SUUPD received the decision to continue in its public safety duties. SUU is widely known as one of the safest campuses in the U.S., due to the student, faculty, and SUU Office of Public Safety PD support of each other. Officers make sure that all state, federal, and university safety laws and procedures are enforced on the 129-acre campus, on SUU's Valley Farm, and at the college cabin. SUUPD officers do not surveille campus housing which is under the SUU Housing Department.

SUU's Interim Chief of Police, Josh Neilson, has helped to put and keep campus safety first. His background in law enforcement began with the Cedar City Police Department where he served for about six years. In 2007 he saw that his personal growth in law enforcement could accelerate with the SUU's Public Safety Department (SUUPD). He greatly enjoys his service to the campus community. The SUU Public Safety Department/SUUPD was established in 1967 as SUU expanded from college designation to university. Chief Neilson is serving as interim chief while Rick Brown is on assignment with the National Guard until November.

SUUPD has 6 fulltime officers, 8 student guards, 5 reserve officers, and 3 administrative employees, all of which like Chief Neilson are fully dedicated to the SUU campus community. Besides law enforcement with campus patrols, the staff provides other services: 1) Property identification where students can register property items, 2) Building security, 3) Event security, 4) Fingerprinting (for education and nursing students as required), 5) Accident reports, 6) Safe passage escort, 7) Internship, 8) Lockout services, and 9) Lectures and seminars as requested.

As part of the campus safety program, students can sign up for notification by text for alerts for the following categories: fire, utility out-

Upcoming Walk to End Alzheimer's to showcase drive-by promise garden

from Mike MILLER

ALZHEIMER'S ASSOCIATION

Walk to End Alzheimer's is coming to Cedar City on September 19. It is held annually in more than 600 communities nationwide, and is the world's largest fundraiser for Alzheimer's care, support and research. This year's event won't be a large in-person gathering like it was in 2019 at SUU, but is still calling on participants of all ages and abilities to join the fight against the disease.

This year, Walk to End Alzheimer's is everywhere — on every sidewalk, track and trail in Iron County and beyond, and on event day participants are invited to participate as individuals, or in small, safe teams, while others in the community do the same.

A special drive-by Promise Garden, featuring hundreds of colorful spinning flowers signifying ways people are connected to Alzheimer's disease, is being hosted and sponsored by Cedar City Motor Company, at 1010 N. Main Street, Cedar City, from 9 am to 3 pm.

The new Walk format is safe for everyone and people can register at www.alz.org/walk, or by texting AlzWalk to 51555. Once a person is registered to walk, they will have access to the new mobile Walk app, where the click of a button will bring up the opening ceremony program, special Walk music, mission messages, and Alzheimer's program information. Participants will also be able to share photos about their Walk experience on the platform.

There is no fee to register for the Walk, but all participants are encouraged to raise funds that will advance the mission of the Alzheimer's Association by enabling critical care and support services and advancing research toward methods of prevention, treatment and, ultimately, a cure.

The Alzheimer's Association is the world's leading voluntary health organization in Alzheimer care, support and research. Our mission is to end Alzheimer's and all other dementia — by accelerating global research, driving risk reduction and early detection, and maximizing quality care and support. Our vision is a world without Alzheimer's and all other dementia.™

Does home schooling make the grade?

The opinions stated in this article are solely those of the author and not of Iron County Today.

There are a variety of jobs I would avoid: A window cleaner in high-rise buildings, a coal miner, a construction worker in Phoenix during the summer, a roofer in the winter... And this fall, a member of a school board.

They can't win. If they follow the advice of scientists and limit in-school education, they face an outcry from parents who think COVID-19 is no more dangerous than a pimple or simply believe a school building is the only definitive site for learning. If they prepare a schedule for daily in-school classes, they face a backlash from many teachers and parents who wonder if the school board has a financial interest in mortuaries. And if they try to split the baby and develop a hybrid model, the arrows are flung from both sides.

A friend of mine has made the decision to tune out the clamor. He and his wife are beginning their first year of home schooling. I wish him well. Home schooling is hard work. Most parents breathe a sigh of relief when their children trot off to school; it is a form of adult recess. Home

Children don't have to like everybody – they just have to sit down in the same cafeteria and not spit on another's pizza or steal another kid's peanut butter bar.

schooling takes preparation and patience – and it can work well in some cases as seen by the sheer number of National Spelling Bee finalists.

But I see a fatal flaw in home schooling. No matter how “high-achieving” a child is, no matter the faults of the public-school environment, I still have the sneaking suspicion that children miss out on a vital citizenship lesson: getting along with others.

Schools exist for reasons other than passing along information. Schools are a laboratory in which young people discover themselves. Lessons are learned from textbooks – yes, even those outdated ones stating Pluto is a planet or that Jimmy Carter is our most recent President – but lessons are also learned from defending one's honor on the playground and making sure that bully seated next to you doesn't jam an eraser up your nose.

Schools are an arena for learning how to cooperate with others, even with students you view as mean or different or even scary. Children don't have to like everybody – they just have to sit down in the same cafeteria and not spit on another's pizza or steal another kid's peanut butter bar.

Granted there are avenues for socialization in home schooling. I also believe most home-schooling parents are very sincere about becoming their son's or daughter's teacher instead of lazily plopping the kid in front of an Apple. Achievement is very possible.

But eventually the children have to leave the cocoon and step into the messy, not always fair world, and it is there I fear that many will stumble.

OPINION

From the Editor

Support your local Editor!

Yes, I borrowed the title from a great James Garner classic, "Support Your Local Sheriff!" Not to be confused with the following film, "Support Your Local Gunfighter." Though, sometimes being an editor can feel like being a gunfighter. I've always believe the pen can be mightier than the sword (or gun)...but only if it's filled with ink. And while Garner's character took the job of Sheriff for the money, I took this job because making a difference matters. It's what I hope I've done and will continue to do until the words run out, or the inkwell dries up.

COREY BAUMGARTNER

MANAGING EDITOR

That being said, I love my job as the managing editor of your local newspaper. What I love more than my job is the great people I get to work with each day in the office and those I work and mingle with outside in the real world. No, I'm not able to get out and about as much as I used to. And during these challenging times, it's been difficult to get to, let alone publish all the great stories that are out there waiting for and deserving of awareness and attention.

However, that doesn't mean we won't continue to strive to do our best. As such, please continue to let us know about events and accomplishments in our community. And if we can't come to you, feel free to come to us. You may not be a journalist, reporter or photographer, but we love it when people take the initiative to write about and photograph the stories we can't make it to.

On a personal note, I also appreciate the interactions with those readers who wish to express gratitude for our efforts to inform and inspire Iron County, as well as letters and voicemails reproving my rationale. Not because I need reprimands to remind me to remain humble or that I've forgotten I'm still human, but because I believe this world needs and can benefit from people with such passion and expression.

While not everything can be printed in the paper (whether good or bad); it's not about censorship or biased ownership, but about liability and responsibility to our readers. Nor does it mean that the newspaper is the only place you can and should be striving to make a difference for the better in this world. We need people willing to stand up for their beliefs (in word and action) wherever they are, to help us not only spread good news, but to create more of it!

To the Editor

Both sides of the story

Cyclops' column from 9-2-2020 was probably the most ignorant of his columns that I have read since becoming a faithful reader of your paper. To describe the shooting of Jacob Blake as, "shot seven times while entering his car" is a thorough twisting of the truth. Cyclops, an alleged "journalist," fails to mention that Blake fought with the officer first, or that a taser was used on Blake in an attempt to gain control of him. He fails to mention that the officers were called to the scene because of Blake's actions. He fails to mention that there were active arrest warrants for Blake for sexual assault. He fails to mention that Blake has a history of violent behavior, including past assaults on police officers and possession of firearms. Never mind the tactical issues of letting someone being investigated for violent crimes have access to a vehicle that hasn't been searched. Yes, Blake's kids were in the car, but Blake put them in that situation. In short, as a journalist, Cyclops fails everyone who reads his account of the incident.

I admit that I usually don't agree with much of what Bryan Gray writes, but his description of the shooting was so far off base as to cast dispersion on anything written in the future.

Sincerely,

Dean Haynes

OPINION

Supporting local media has become patriotic

BUILDING MAIN STREET, NOT WALL STREET

The "Building Main Street, not Wall Street" column rarely ventures into the political arena; however, I feel compelled to bring this to your attention as this impacts every local community in such a dramatic fashion. Additionally, this will provide an opportunity for you to make a significant impact in your community in a very simple and yes, a patriotic way.

I am reminded of a quote by Thomas Paine, "These are the times that try men's souls; the summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman." One might rightfully ask, how does this famous quote by a Founding Father relate to myself and our community today? Let me explain.

It is no secret that local media is a tough business, in fact, since the outbreak of Covid-19 earlier this year, most local media companies have lost a significant portion of their revenue and many are nearing a breaking point. Hundreds of communities around the country have already lost their local media voice. When a community loses their media voice, they lose a valuable local information conduit for the community. Additionally, they also lose the messenger that spreads local information to the outside world. This is the same local voice our Founding Fathers referred to when considering the value and importance of assuring freedom of the press in maintaining our Democratic-Republic.

In response to the current pandemic and crisis in local media, Francis Wick, one of the brightest young minds in the news-media industry and CEO of Wick Communications worked with his local congressional representatives in Arizona to create what has become known as the "Local Journalism Sustainability Act." This powerful bipartisan piece of legislation is actually simple. This legislation empowers local communities to stand-up and provide support to their local media companies in a community-wide way saving them money at the same time. Without boring you with extensive detail, let me summarize this legislation.

» It provides tax credits (much better than a deduction) to local media supporters for simply supporting their local media company by subscribing to their service. This now makes supporting the local media financially appealing for subscribers.

» It provides small local businesses tax credits for advertising in their local media. Many small businesses have very tight budgets. Due to this, advertising, marketing and branding are difficult without those deep pockets of financial resources. This legislation provides a shot in the arm to any local business with fewer than 1000 employees. This will be a huge benefit for local businesses and thus the community.

JOHN A. NEWBY

» It provides tax credits for your local media companies to employ local journalists in their markets. In order to provide accurate and timely news, it takes a dedicated staff. This legislation allows local media companies to invest in the communities in which they serve.

Often, we ask ourselves, how can I make a difference? I am only one person and one person really hasn't much of a voice in government. Nothing could be further from the truth. When a local media company folds, studies have shown the cost of local government increases 30% within 4-5 years, civic pride diminishes, voting numbers drop, economic vitality declines and volunteering fades away. This is a unique opportunity that allows just a few voices to make a dramatic impact in the future of your local community.

What can I do now? That is very simple, reach out by phone to your Federal House and Senate representatives and ask them to support this critical piece of legislation. Follow that up with a letter. Let them know how important local media is to your community. Then share this column with your family, friends and neighbors, your city leaders, your Chamber and/or Main Street organizations and encourage them to do the same.

Time is of the essence, the economic pressures on local communities are mounting. As pressure increases, so will the pressure on your local media company. Now is not the time to be the summer soldier or sunshine patriot that Thomas Paine mentioned. Now is the time to move quickly and take action that can be the difference between your community losing the freedom of the press or maintaining it. Being a patriot doesn't always mean fighting a war or placing yourself in harm's way, it can also be the little, yet powerful efforts of the hidden few that save a community – now is one of those moments. Your community awaits your efforts!

John A. Newby, author of "Building Main Street, Not Wall Street" a National column dedicated to helping communities combine synergies with local media allowing them to not just survive, but thrive in a world where Truly Local is lost to Amazon and Wall Street chains. john@360MediaAlliance.net.

“When a local media company folds, studies have shown the cost of local government increases 30% within 4-5 years”

Additionally, is the availability of internship opportunities for students in appropriate fields of study. Inquiries about internships should be made through academic departments and the Registrar's Office.

The need for campus security was underscored last month on August 20, when a bomb threat was received by the Utah Department of Public Safety Cedar Communications Center, naming SUU as having a bomb placed on the campus. At least 5 other universities across the U.S. also received bomb threats at the same time. All such threats are taken seriously, and a search of campus buildings and grounds was made, with no apparent explosives found, thankfully.

Students and faculty should make full use of SUUPD services in order to fully experience student life. Chief Neilson said, "If you see it or hear about it, contact us and let us know so we can protect our community and keep it among the safest campuses in the U.S."

The SUU police department is located at 36 N. 300 W. and is open weekdays from 9-5. The office phone number is 435-586-7793, with emergencies at 911. Remember to "Back the Blue at SUU."

Cedar City American Legion Post celebrates 100 years

by Jay JONES

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Nearly one year after the armistice was signed ending World War I, a banquet was held in Cedar City on November 10, 1919 honoring the men who had served in the military during the war. About 50 men attended the feast.

Afterwards, focus shifted to the organization of a post of the American Legion. It was reported that "The boys appeared to be better posted on war tactics than on parliamentary laws and usages, and the proceedings were, to say the least, very informal." Some of the officers were declared duly elected following a nomination and a second, if there were no objections.

The officers were: Lehi M. Jones, President; Ray Forbes, Secretary; Pratt Tollestrup, Treasurer; and Walter K. Granger, Employment Officer. Additional members of the Executive Committee were Stanley S. Ivins, Virgil Tollestrup and Virgean Simkins.

It took a few months for the proceedings to become official. The Cedar City Post No. 74 of the American Legion Department of Utah was granted a charter on September 8, 1920.

Listed as charter members of the organization are: Junior McConnell, Walter K. Granger, Stanley Ivins, F. C. Braithwaite, Claude Edwards, Lewis R. Fife, Gerald Wilkinson, Pratt Tollestrup, Gordon Hunter, Rulon Dalley, A. Virgil Tollestrup, R. T. Forbes, Erastus L. Jones, Lehi Jones, Randolph Grimshaw, Fernleigh Gardner, Ether Perry, Glenn Macfarlane, George Smith and Parry Mackelprang.

The founding documents for the American Legion organization in the state of Utah include the following phrases: "To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; . . . to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy."

The Cedar City American Legion Post is still active in promoting patriotism and honoring those who have served our country. Veterans interested in local American Legion activities can call Dennis Robison at 435-586-8852 for more information.

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENTS

Power in Pink – Iron County to hold 8th Annual Breast Cancer Walk and Run

On Saturday, October 10, join with other members from Cedar City and Iron County to support women dealing with breast cancer. The 8th annual Power in Pink – Iron County Walk and Run will begin at 8:30 a.m. at Cedar City West Canyon Park, 151 S 400 E. Registration begins at 8 a.m. Tickets are $25 and participants will receive a 2020 Power in Pink shirt, mask and gift bag.

Registration and information are available at Active.com and EventBrite where you can also make tax deductible donations if you are unable to participate in the walk/run. Opportunity drawings for a number of prizes will also be available during the morning event. Physical distancing protocols will be followed during the event and masks will be available.

Started in 2013 by four young breast cancer survivors, this annual event helps meet the needs of local women rather than sending proceeds to big national organizations. "This event is specifically for the ladies in our area that need help getting through the challenges of treatment," said Robyn Brown, one of the original Iron Young Survivors. "Maybe they need child care so they can attend their radiation treatments. Maybe they need gas to get to the hospital. Maybe they just need to be reminded they are beautiful and they matter. We can help. We can make a difference for them."

Sponsors for this year's event include Ernie's Stores, SHE-Salon and Formal Dress Boutique, SUU Alumni & Community Relations, Iron County School District, State Bank of Southern Utah, Smith's, Women's Health and Midwifery, Myriad Genetics, DMK Entertainment, and Kolob Sign & Design.

October is breast cancer awareness month. According to the CDC, breast cancer is the most common cancer in women, regardless of race or ethnicity. About 1 in 8 U.S. women (about 12.4%) will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of her lifetime. For more information, email powerinpinkcedarcity@gmail.com or follow the event on the Power in Pink-Iron County Facebook and Instagram pages.

Veterans Park deadline September 25th

The Rotary Centennial Veterans Park in Cedar City is now taking applications for Pavers at the WWI, WWII, Korean and Vietnam Monuments. The deadline for 2020 is Wednesday, September 25th. This is the time to honor your friends and loved ones for their service to our country. The Pavers will be installed in time for the November 2020 Veterans Day Holiday. The Rotary Club is currently working on expanding the Iraqi Freedom Monument and hope to be able to add Pavers to that monument within the next two years. You may pick up an application for a Paver at the Cedar City offices on Main St. or call the Cedar City Rotary Club at (435) 865-7637 for more info or to have an application mailed to you. The RCVF is located on Freedom Blvd., 2 Blocks East of Main St. in Cedar City.

Local family fundraiser seeks help in time of need

Don and Margi Cowles are active members of the Church and they have been members of the Cedar City community for over 15 years.

They desperately need help as they were recently released from the hospital after becoming very sick from COVID-19.

Margi already had congestive heart failure, COPD and diabetes prior to contracting the Coronavirus. She then had a stroke while she was in the hospital and is now unable to walk, talk, think, see or operate her left arm and hand correctly.

Don is a truck driver and is unable to go back to work since he is the only one who is able to care for her. Their only source of income is his Social Security and they cannot survive solely off of that.

The goal is to raise enough money to pay off their fifth wheel trailer that they live in so they can afford to get by with their other expenses. A savings account at State Bank of Southern Utah has been created. Deposits can be made under Donald Cowles' sole account or through the GoFundMe link at the following address: gf.me/u/ytsw7s. Any amount is helpful and greatly appreciated!

Southern Utah University (SUU) has announced a multi-year partnership making PepsiCo the exclusive beverage provider for all campus vending, dining, residential and athletic facilities. The PepsiCo portfolio of iconic brands includes Pepsi, Mountain Dew, Gatorade, Muscle Milk, Bubly, Starbucks, Lipton, Tropicana, Aquafina, and Naked Juice, among others.

Conversion to PepsiCo beverage products, equipment, and signage is underway across SUU facilities including athletics for the 2020-21 academic year. The partnership includes the leading sports fuel brand Gatorade helping Thunderbird student-athletes perform at their best with a key presence at all athletic events and facilities.

PepsiCo will also launch local marketing and retail promotional opportunities both on and off-campus including SUU's Paint the Town Red and Red Riot student event each year. In addition, PepsiCo will provide broad-based marketing funds to benefit SUU student-focused initiatives while also supporting the annual Utah Summer Games held on the Cedar City campus.

"PepsiCo has been a longtime supporter of SUU and its students, and we are delighted with their generous new commitment to the University, our students, and athletes through a strong financial sponsorship, student scholarships, co-branding, and other benefits," said Marvin Dodge, SUU's Chief Financial Officer and Vice President for Finance and Administrative Services. "The local PepsiCo team has provided exceptional service over the years and we look forward to an enhanced relationship as we move forward under this new agreement."

"We've been working with Southern Utah University for more than a decade, and we're looking forward to being the exclusive beverage provider across the entire campus for the next 10-years," said James Totland, vice president, Foodservice, PepsiCo Beverages North America – West Division. "We are very appreciative of SUU's leadership in fostering a true partnership spirit and we look forward to supporting the students, athletes, staff, and administration, in a positive and sustainable manner."

Van Wagner, the multi-media rights and sponsorship partner for SUU, facilitated the development and execution of the partnership with PepsiCo.

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Southern Utah University has added four more certificates to help Utah residents and employers impacted by COVID-19, bringing the total of no-cost certificates to 11 with room for 435 participants.

The certificates are being offered as part of Utah Governor Gary Herbert's Learn and Work ciplines, this latest approval adds four more no-cost certification programs to the SUU fall lineup: Entrepreneurship Case Studies and Mentoring, Systems Agility and Innovation Management, Principles of Contemporary Animal Services, and Remote Work Foundations, said Melynda Thorpe, executive director at SUU Community and Professional Development.

initiative, which funds grants to SUU to help participants earn certifications they can use to boost their resumes, learn new skills for their jobs, and to help those displaced by the new coronavirus.

"The new coronavirus pandemic has adversely affected many Utah families and community members," said Dave R. Woolstenhulme, the state's commissioner of higher education. "As our state begins the process of economic recovery, higher education will serve a pivotal role in helping individuals re-skill and re-enter the workforce. We want Utahns to know that these educational programs can help them develop and sharpen the skills needed to prepare for their future."

In early August, SUU was awarded grants to start certificate programs for Parks and Public Lands Stewardship, Online and Remote Teaching Basics, Better Your Business, Community Health Care Worker, Basic Cybersecurity Certificate, Enriched Teaching Skills for Professionals, and an Aviation Maintenance General Training Certificate.

"This one-time opportunity is exciting to be able to offer to those who are displaced from employment, looking to upskill into an in-demand occupation or advance within their industry. We are honored to make this investment to help southern Utah," said Stephen Lisonbee, executive director for the SUU Office of Regional Services. "Rural counties in the region have been especially hard hit. These funds will help us get the necessary training and counseling to our neighbors in outlying communities."

Southern Utah Women

FEATURED IN NEW MURAL

from Kallee FEUZ

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The images of several Southern Utah women appear in a new five-story mural designed by the co-creator of an iconic Beatles album.

Cedar City artist Mona Woolsey is among 250 Utah women past and present featured on Jann Haworth and Alex Johnstone's "Utah Women 2020" mural. Other Southern Utah women depicted on the mural include Stephanie Martini, founder of the Three Corners Women's Giving Circle; Jessica Farling, director of the Southern Utah Museum of Art, and the late historian Juanita Brooks.

The public art piece was unveiled on Women's Equality Day, Aug. 26, marking 100 years since the certification of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, granting women the right to vote. The 5,000-square-foot mural celebrates the character and impact of Utah's women with a cast of colorful characters that span the history and geography of the Beehive State: Olympian Logan Tom dives for a volleyball; pediatric surgeon Rebecka Meyers peers down through surgical loupes; and painter Edie Roberson soars above the crowd.

Zions Bank commissioned the public art piece for its Dinwoodey building (37 W. 100 South, Salt Lake City), in honor of the women's suffrage milestones that fall in 2020. This year marks 100 years since the ratification of voting rights for women and 150 years since Utahn Seraph Young became the first woman in the modern nation to cast a ballot.

Only three days to see Jimmie Jones!

by Mary Anne ANDERSEN

CEDAR CITY ARTS COUNCIL

I think I've related this story before. I was in a vocal lesson (as an accompanist) and the student had just finished a beautiful solo by a romantic composer. The teacher looked at us and remarked on the mystery of the creative process. "The composer sat down in front of a blank page and when he stood up, that gorgeous music, never heard by the world before, had come into existence." Now, he wasn't implying that writing music was easy and that the beautiful work came into being without much work over subsequent sessions. But we understood that he was marveling about the true creator's ability to produce something from seemingly nothing. I shared the story with my husband.

My husband and I were in SUMA last week, viewing the Jimmie Jones exhibit, and my husband turned to me and said, "He sat down in front of a blank canvas and when he stood up, that beautiful image had come into being." Again, we both knew that the pieces before us, some of which were very, very large, were not created in an afternoon. Indeed, one of them took ten years to complete. But the idea was the same. An artist with ability, education, and perseverance created a unique object of surpassing beauty that the rest of us could only be the marveling recipients of, with no idea of how to go about being the creator.

I have waited too long to tell you of this exhibit of Cedar City's most renowned and accomplished painter, Jimmie Jones. It will end on the 12th, which gives you only three days to get to SUMA and see it. In this time of deprivation of so much that we love, the gorgeous space known as SUMA offers us free this collection of many of his breath-taking works.

The first thing we see is a crayon drawing on a tattered piece of paper that Jones drew at the age of seven. It is a depiction of mountains and trees with two little figures in the foreground that shows the sense of composition that is apparently innate in the eye of this little boy. Seven! The exhibit is then arranged by different periods of the artist's life. Those who know Jones think of him as a landscape artist, but there are some lovely portraits and village scenes of his early years spent in Mexico. I saw a beautiful one of a woman and child in a doorway that I am used to seeing in the home of Barry and Cindy Line.

And of course, his landscapes: stunning scenes of Cedar City, Grand Canyon, and Zion. Jones spent the last years of his life in his home/studio in Rockville, where he could paint his beloved Zion every day. What is labeled as his largest painting is over ten feet high. What room could hold an easel of that size?! I would love to see.

Please, go see the works of this favorite son. We are so blessed to have his work so available to us.

Ballet to hold auditions for "Cinderella"

from Marlo IHLER

CEDAR CITY JUNIOR BALLET

CEDAR CITY – Cedar City Junior Ballet is excited to announce that not only are ballet classes for all ages and abilities running and open for enrollment, but auditions for CCJB's spring production of "Cinderella" are coming up. Auditions will be held on Saturday, September 12, from 9:30 am to 4:30 pm at the CCJB Studio, located at 173 N. 100 W. in Cedar City, and the community is invited to participate. Strict COVID-19 precautions will be observed and face masks will be mandatory during auditions. Please bring your own.

Cinderella is a full-length ballet with music by Sergei Prokofiev and tells the traditional fairy tale of a young girl who longs to attend the Prince's ball. It is known for its lovely music, magical story, and, of course, the comic roles of the evil step-sisters. This production will be directed by Lise Mills, CCJB Artistic Director.

No previous dance experience is required to audition; anyone age four and above is welcome to attend. Roles that require intermediate to advanced ballet training include Cinderella, the Prince, Dance Master, Fairy Godmother, Fairy soloists, and Magick. There are also numerous roles as flowers, clock fairies, mice, men and women of the court, snowflakes, and flowers.

Audition times on Saturday, Sept. 12, are as follows: 9:30-10:30 am – children ages four to seven; 11:30-12:30 pm – children ages eight to twelve; and 1:30-4:30 pm – teens, adults, pointe dancers, and men. Wear appropriate ballet clothing or comfortable clothes that are easy to move in, along with a face mask. Performances will be March 12 and 13, 2021, at the Heritage Center Theatre in Cedar City. Performance fees are required to participate.

Cedar City Junior Ballet is Cedar City's only classical ballet company designed to involve community talent of all ages. Past full-length productions include "The Sleeping Beauty," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Coppelia," "The Secret Garden," "Peter and the Wolf," and "The Puppetshow Man." It is funded, in part, by Cedar City RAP tax and generous donations.

Johnstone created "Utah Women 2020" as a collaborative community project.

The project began with community-led workshops in which participants were guided in creating stencil portraits from photographic images. When the series of in-person workshops — which took place at locations from YWCA Utah in Ephraim — was cut short by the coronavirus pandemic, the mural team created an online tutorial and launched a statewide call to Utahns who were at home and willing to participate. Haworth also enlisted the help of national and international artists — most of whom were on lockdown at the time — to compose 24 additional portraits. In total, more than 175 artists contributed to the mural.

Haworth and Johnstone photographed the painted stencil portraits, then sized and digitally arranged the images into a collage, which was printed on nine 10-by-55-foot vinyl mesh banners.

"This mural is for me, the most extraordinary of my career because of the arc of time during which it is being made," Haworth said. "I believe that this gives it another level of historical significance that is a tribute to the 200-plus people who made the mural."

One difficulty in designing the artwork was identifying which women to include — and which to leave out. The 250 individuals depicted on the mural were selected through a democratic process, reflecting a diversity of characters and contributions. Two faces were intentionally left blank to allow observers to place the faces of women important to them — or themselves — in the mural.

A long-time supporter of the arts as well as a champion of women in leadership, Zions Bank president and CEO Scott Anderson asked Haworth to create the mural to celebrate the impact of Utah women as the state marks 150 years since a woman first cast a ballot.

"Zions Bank has long recognized the value women add to our communities. On the day Zions Bank opened in 1873, four of the 15 depositors listed on the original ledger were women," Anderson said. "Despite the mural's enormous size, it represents only a snapshot of the decades-long leadership and impact of Utah women."

Iron County Fair

PROVES “TOGETHER IS OUR FAVORITE PLACE TO BE”

by Corey BAUMGARTNER

IRON COUNTY TODAY

After enjoying mud bog races and a demolition derby during the weeks leading up to the fair, thousands returned to Parowan to be together and experience all the fun and food the annual Iron County Fair is famous for. The wildest weekend in Iron County included a carnival, rodeos, horseshoes, horseback rides, live entertainment—“Iron County’s Got Talent”—and a Labor Day parade which showcased winners of the Miss Iron County pageant and Beautiful Baby contest. Exhibit entries included Photography, Quilting, Crafting, Creating, Building and Harvesting. You can relive many of your favorite memories from this year’s fair thanks to Parowan’s own photographer, Dave Mineer Sr., on Facebook @ Your Story Utah. See you next year!

Festival of Homes celebrates more than buildings

I don't know about you all, but I can attest that I am excited as all get out that the Iron County Home Builders Association (ICHBA) has decided to hold their annual Festival of Homes event this fall. By the time this article reaches you, you may have already purchased tickets and visited some of the beautiful entries on this year's tour. If you have, please read along so we can share our mutual excitement of this event's happening.

With all our country has been through, due to the pandemic, we as a community have made huge sacrifices to accommodate the governmental regulations and restrictions placed upon us for our safety. These restrictions have forced us to cancel many events we normally host and participate in. This year the ICHBA was a leader on this front. One way they did this was by cancelling their annual Spring Home and Garden Show; which was a huge disappointment to us all. Perhaps this is why I am so excited to participate in this year's Festival of Homes Tour; not only to show my support to the ICHBA, but to fellowship with our community as we 'bump' into each other while touring these beautiful homes. Kind of like crashing a party, it should be so much fun this year.

One thing that fueled my excitement for this year's tour is the fantastic Heather Hill Farm & Gardens Wedding & Event Center; where we also met for the ICHBA's luncheon and the unveiling of this year's entries. Heather Hill is an antique Barn, beautifully situated in a peaceful country setting, with a quaint ambiance, charming décor, nestled on a beautifully landscaped and manicured grounds. This venue took my breath away! Which, if I were a betting woman, are just the feelings the new owner's and Summit Building Construction was hoping to evoke within all who visit this entry. You will most definitely want to visit and perhaps even book Heather Hill for your next event.

There are twelve building entries this year. I am sure each one will make me ooh and awe, just as Heather Hill did. I am saddened that I am unable to share with you my experiences of touring the other homes in this short article as my deadline was prior to the official opening of the tour. I'd love to hear what you thought about the tour. Please feel free to email me at: patti@iron-countytoday.com. Perhaps we can combine all of your responses in an after-the-event article.

So, if you are looking for something fun to do this weekend, check out the ICHBA's ad in this week's paper; I believe you will find a coupon attached. Let's all get out and support our local Iron County Home Builder's Association by buying tickets to their annual Festival of Homes Tour. I know they will appreciate your support. I hope to see you at one of the entries. Until then, have a fantastic week!

Do you still remember?

September 11, 2001. Suddenly, the American Dream was turned into a nightmare. A shadow of terror towered over our country. It pierced people with confusion, sorrow and fear of tomorrow. Do you remember where you were and what you were doing on that fateful day? Who could have known how much that day would change our lives, cities, nation and our world?

I remember all of the flying flags that followed patriotic poems and speeches. Each act of personal patriotism was an act of defiance against those who attempted to destroy the American Dream. In the end, they not only delayed it, but as broken relationships were repaired and rekindled, while religious beliefs were restored and rejuvenated, our country became stronger and more united than ever. God became a real part of lives again, not just a swearword. Hope and unity became the new American Dream. Freedom became more than a commodity taken for granted. It became the spark and flame every heart in America held high to let the world know we were not beaten; that we were still alive. We would not only rebuild buildings, but repair the despair in each other and together and we would remind all terrorists that the same spirit and courage that made our country free in the first place was still alive and ready to fight and would never be beaten.

Perhaps those memories and emotional scars still mar our memories, but when we remember those dark days—when much more than towers tumbled to the ground—let us also remember to be thankful for today. While there are fewer flags flying, have we become better people? Spouses? Co-workers? Americans? Humans? Are we more thankful for what we have? Are we still thankful for those brave men and women who rescued the survivors and who are still fighting for our freedoms?

We must keep the flames of our freedoms alive. We owe it not only to those who lost and gave their lives, but to our children and to those who follow after us. They need to know what it truly means to be free; to have hope, to feel safe and to be loved. This is the meaning I choose to remember. Even during our current pandemic, I can worry about all the bad things in this world that have happened and might happen, or I can choose to live a life of hope and love and do my part to make a difference. We can each be a flame of hope, a bright banner of the believers that America is not just our country, but our home worth fighting and living for.

Be thankful for you family—don't just text them; tell them, hug them. And let us remind each other that no matter our race, religion, education, or preferences; we're all in this together. We can try to tear down each other's towers, or we can each reach out and build each other up. After all, how can we truly be the United States of America if we remain divided? Will you remember?

BIBLE 101.4B

Old Testament law and its influence today

by Edy MEREDITH

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

We live in challenging times, no doubt at all. Our times remind me of the old but ever new movie, The Wizard of Oz. If you haven't seen it or read the book, you should. Which one of the characters are you: Scarecrow, Tin Man, Cowardly Lion, Wicked Witch of the West, Wicked Witch of the East, Good Witch of the North, Toto, the companion of the confused Dorothy who was caught up in a tornado and set down in the land of Oz. Or, perhaps, are you trying to be the Wizard of Oz? More importantly in our times, who is the man behind the curtain, projecting chaos and unreasonable fear throughout our world with the "big and scary" virus (even though apparently there is a 95% or more recovery rate)?

I was asked an even more important question recently: How does God (the Good) get our attention and direct history to His ends which is the redemption of human individuals and the reorganization of the Universe to eliminate all tears?

Today in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave, we have double hurricanes with one hundred-year floods across Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and other East Coast states. We have a tremendous weather crisis with fires throughout California and the southwest, riots and over the top murder rates in big and small cities. Is someone trying to get our attention that we have gone astray? Have we rejected the Gentle Shepherd, lost His favor, and are currying His Wrath? Looking across trends in the United States, do we value human life as the Old Testament law instructs us to do, or are we like the pagans who killed their children with apparent impunity? Do we value God's directions and clues? Does the Old Testament moral law apply to us? How can we restore respect for law and for the orderly justice it is designed to promote?

Does the Old Testament Law call to each of our consciences and to the conscience of our nation? Has it ever in our history? Has the practice of law changed to protect criminal law breakers instead of protecting the victims of criminals?

What is your personal attitude? Have we each one of us turned from our wicked ways to follow the Good Shepherd in our hearts, minds, and actions? Importantly, has Old Testament moral law affected the practice of jurisprudence in the United States?

In an extensive study titled "The Use of the Ten Commandments in American Courts" the following information was found through a Lexis computer word search of the published decisions of the following courts: 1) U.S. Supreme Court, 2) Federal Courts of Appeal, 3) Federal District Courts, 4) State Supreme Courts, and 5) State Courts of Appeal. Tracing individual commandments under the words "Ten Commandments," there were 515 citations in court decisions. Using the word Decalogue (meaning Ten Laws), there were 331 citations so a total of 846 citations. No matter how many times the words searched occurred in a court decision, each decision only counted for one, not the many times "Ten Commandments" or "Decalogue" might have been mentioned in a decision.

Using individual commandments, the following additional citations were found: First meaning first commandment, 26 cases; Second, 24 cases; Third, 9 cases; Fourth, 44 cases; Fifth, 45 cases; Sixth, 27 cases; Seventh, 29 cases; Eighth, 34 cases; Ninth, 9 cases; and Tenth, 13 cases. (Please see the following website for a thirty-nine-page report with full details of the above court citations: digital-commons.liberty.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1050&context=lu_law_review)

I invite readers to check out this website and study it for relevance today. Remember that the Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution were created to bring order out of confusion and create a more perfect union; in other words, stating that "We the People" and our Government are not perfect, but our founding documents created a system making it possible to become more perfect. Come back next week as we transition to another Biblical genre: Poetry, the scripture written in verse using symbolic language, metaphors, word pictures, and expressions of feelings.

Seeing through God's eyes (part 1)

2 CORINTHIANS 5:16-21

In our world today, there are those who subscribe to the point of view that seeing is believing. However, for a Christian believer, it's the opposite; believing is seeing—especially when it comes to believing in God, our Heavenly Father and in Jesus Christ, our Savior. While we do not "see" them physically, we are "believing" that they are there; even when we may not be blessed as immediately or accordingly to our "seeing," or cause us to take our eyes off the Lighthouse (Jesus) and lose sight of the sure shore. Perhaps even now you or someone you know are sinking in sin, being dragged beneath and drowned under the merciless waves of wickedness. It is during these dark times that we must not only believe God is still there, but to also learn to see ourselves (and others) through His eyes...even through His heart.

Why does it matter in our darkest hours how God sees us? Because if we relied only on our own vision, we should surely drown. Because when we're surrounded and drowning in despair and our understanding and timetables (Isaiah 55:8).

Nevertheless, no matter our current desires and duress, we strive to trust God's timing and His vision and provisions. We believe that He not only sees the "big picture" but has access to and sees where all the pieces need to go that will bring us the most peace in our lives. Thus, we strive to trust Him to help us also see those pieces (Jeremiah 29:11) and to place them appropriately when and where they need to be in our lives (Ecclesiastes 3:1-8). This increases our belief and our ability to see not only more clearly, but to see more like our Father in Heaven sees.

Yet, there are times in our lives when, no matter how spiritually fortifying our backgrounds, our believing can become blinded by the storms and floods of life—both in our own lives and when we witness the distraction and destruction in other people's lives. This can sin, it can be easy for our vision (or lack thereof) to be deceived into believing that because we are sinking in sin, that we're not worth rescuing. We see all (and only) the mistakes we've made (quantity and severity) and believe that it is better to be disowned and drowned than discovered and recovered (rescued) only to face Father's wrath. Are you sure that's all you'll face?

True, He cannot tolerate the least degree of sin and repentance must be expressed and experienced. However, those who are burdened by sin(s) will find rest and redemption through forgiveness. (Matthew 11:28-30). Even before those merciful words were uttered by our Savior, "Here am I, send me," our rescue and salvation have been part of God's merciful plan! (Ephesians 1:3-14). The Atonement of Jesus Christ in all its majesty, mystery and mercy makes our rescue and redemption not only possible, but imperative (John 3:16-17).

Cedar City Rotary Club annual golf tournament a success

from Tessa DOUGLAS
FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The Cedar City Rotary Club hosted its annual golf tournament last Wednesday with 24 teams participating to support the club and enjoy a great outdoor event.

The golf tournament is one of Rotary’s annual fund-raisers and helps the club support its many humanitarian projects in the community and worldwide. This year a good showing at the tournament was especially important since the club’s largest annual fundraiser, the July Jamboree, had to be cancelled due to logistical difficulties caused by Covid-19. Cedar City Rotary Club President, Paul Monroe, said “We were grateful to have so many teams participate this year. The support of these community organizations and individuals is a vital part of our ability to help worthwhile projects and causes.”

Intermountain Cedar City Hospital’s team took first place, with the Leavitt Group team at a close second.

Hinton Burdick’s team followed next. Individual prizes included “Closest to the Hole #13 – Chase Williams,” “Closest to the line #8 – Dave Olsen,” “Long Drive Women – Mary Davis,” and “Long Drive Men – Emmett Steed.”

Rotary brings together a global network of volunteer leaders dedicated to tackling the world’s most pressing humanitarian challenges. They connect 1.2 million members from more than 35,000 Rotary clubs in almost every country in the world. Together, they work together to promote peace, fight disease, and to provide clean water, sanitation and hygiene. They also work to support education and grow local economies. For more information on becoming a member of the Cedar City Rotary Club, email Miriam Keener at cedarcityrotary-club@gmail.com.

After graduating, she pursued her passion by attending and graduating from Mary's Career College of Cosmetology in Provo, Utah. She loved to cut and style hair and became a skilled beautician. She built a regular clientele in her own salon where she made many friends. Carol moved to Fredonia, Arizona in 1968 where she and Dan raised their family. She worked at the Fredonia High School for a short time in the library and at Duke's clothing store in Kanab, Utah prior to opening Carol's Hair Salon.

Carol was an active member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints her entire life and served in various callings. She especially enjoyed working with the young women. She and Larry served in the Wisconsin Milwaukee Mission from 2001-2002. She later served for several years as a temple worker in the St. George Temple.

Carol's greatest attribute was the love she expressed to her family and friends. She made genuine life-long friends by simply being there for others. She enjoyed being at home and visiting with her children and sisters on the phone. She liked watching a good movie and game shows. One of her hobbies was tole painting, having completed many beautiful pieces. If someone was struggling with trials, she would often say "This too shall pass."

Calvin Carter

Calvin Wesley Carter slipped peacefully away from his earthly life on September 3, 2020, just days short of his 96th birthday.

Calvin was born at his family home in Minersville, Utah on Sept. 11, 1924, the seventh child of Guy William Carter and Effie Myers. He recalled his early years in Minersville as some of the happiest in his life as he worked and played with his siblings and cousins on the Carter block.

When Cal was 12, his mother Effie died and he went to live with relatives to help on their dairy farm where he worked relentlessly.

After graduating from Milford High School, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy and shipped out from San Francisco on the Crater Raider, AK70, a cargo ship in the South Pacific where he served until the end of World War II.

He met his wife Gaye in Salt Lake City. On their first date, he terrified her by taking her on the Magic Racer and then fell in love with her as they danced the night away in Saltair's big ballroom. They were married in the Manti Temple on February 20, 1948.

Cal and Gaye began their building business in Monticello, Utah. Cal's brother Jack became a valued partner and the Carter Brothers/Enterprises has become a respected commercial builder with many projects throughout southern Utah including 14 projects at Southern Utah University. Cedar City has been their home since 1962.

Calvin has served in many positions in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints including ward clerk, stake missionary and bishop's counselor. He and Gaye served as ordinance workers in the St. George Temple, and they served a full-time service mission in Florida where they renovated homes at the Church Cattle Ranch.

His skill and dedication brought many honors to Cal over the years including President of the Associated General Contractors of Utah and Honoree of the Southern Utah University Old Main Society. The Carter Carillon rises above the SUU campus in his name. But reaching much further than the peal of those bells is the love and influence he will continue to have upon his 23 grandchildren and 57 great-grandchildren. By far the biggest honor is this life was his role of husband and father. He often spoke about how much he loved his family and proclaimed what a good family he had.

He is survived by his wife Gaye Black Carter, children: Jill Elliss (Joe), Jan Wilson (Jim), Curtis (Emily), Kelli Olsen, (Dan), Chad, (Sherene); brother Jack (Gayle), and sister Jane Blackner. He was preceded in death by son Eric, and siblings Bernice Gillins, Dewayne, Sherman, Fern Burbidge, Gertrude Marshall, Lou and Raymond.

A private service and visitation for family members will be held at the Southern Utah Mortuary, 190 North, 300 West, Cedar City. Graveside services will take place at the Cedar City cemetery under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online condolences can be sent at www.sumortuary.com.

Falcons soccer wins first over Reds since '09

by Tom ZULEWSKI

IRON COUNTY TODAY

The Canyon View girls soccer team hadn't beaten the Cedar Lady Reds in more than a decade. On Sept. 1, CV started early and ended the futility.

Brylee Bergener scored two goals, including a crucial marker in the second half that slowed Cedar's momentum and helped the Falcons finish off a 4-2 victory over the Lady Reds on the home pitch, breaking an 18-match winless streak (17 losses, one tie) and beating their crosstown rival for the first time since Sept. 17, 2009.

"The change they've been working on is becoming more of a team, playing for each other," Newman said. "It's not one individual person that stands out to win a game for us. We play as a team, and we did that today."

Senior Cassidy Cox got the scoring started for Canyon View in the 11th minute when she punched a long rebound near the edge of the 18-yard box into a wide-open net. The Lady Reds were able to tie the score in the 29th minute on the first of two goals from senior Emily Schuh, but Bergener struck a minute later and Canyon View took a 2-1 lead to the halftime break.

"I'm proud of my team. It's all of us working together," Bergener said. "In the end, it's why we won."

Bergener added her second goal of the game nine minutes into the second half. Cedar responded four minutes later to trim the deficit back to a goal at 3-2. Less than a minute after that, Brindley Christensen found an open spot in the 6-yard box off a corner kick and headed the ball past Cedar keeper Kelci Oldroyd in the 53rd minute that completed

Jaron Garrett accounted for two touchdowns and Braxtan Torres added an interception and kickoff return for scores as the Cedar Reds raced out to a big first-half lead and beat the Crimson Cliffs Mustangs, 37-7 on Sept. 4 in the Region 9 opener for both teams.

Cedar improved to 3-1 on the season and Torres gave the offense a jumpstart when he returned his interception 55 yards for a first-quarter touchdown for a 10-0 lead. Garrett threw an 11-yard touchdown to Trey Payne with only 17 seconds remaining to stretch the Reds' lead to 23-0 at the half.

Torres kept the Cedar momentum in high gear when he returned the second-half opening kickoff 90 yards for a score, and the Reds were never threatened the rest of the way. Garrett added a 2-yard touchdown run later in the third quarter.

The Mustangs broke the Reds shutout bid in the fourth quarter when Easton Droubay scored on an 11-yard touchdown with 8 minutes, 52 seconds left.

Cedar faces another road game this week when they travel to Pine View on Friday for a 7 p.m. kickoff. The Panthers opened Region 9 play with a 49-20 rout over Desert Hills.

Newman admitted the quick answers by the CV offense helped the team relax under pressure.

“We’re definitely more comfortable with a two-goal lead. We don’t get them very often,” Newman said. “That goes to the team wanting to play together, not one person saying they have to win the game by themselves.”

The Falcons improved to 2-2 in Region 9, 4-2 overall, matching their win total from all of last season.

In Canyon View’s other game of the week, the Falcons fell on the road at Crimson Cliffs by a 3-1 count and dropped to 2-3 in region play. After a scoreless first half, Bergener struck for the first goal to give CV the lead, but the Mustangs got two goals from Jantzyn Losee and went on to grab the victory.

In Cedar’s second game of the week, Schuh and Sydney Craft scored two goals apiece as the Lady Reds held off Hurricane on the road, 4-3 on Sept. 3. The teams were tied 2-2 at the half, but Schuh and Craft each scored once as Cedar improved to 3-2 in Region 9 play, good for sole possession of second place.

Cedar traveled to play at Desert Hills on Tuesday and Canyon View was also on the road at Dixie. Both teams will be at home Thursday, with the Lady Reds hosting Snow Canyon and the Falcons playing Region 9 leader Desert Hills starting at 4 p.m.

Warriors run away from Falcons

by Tom ZULEWSKI

IRON COUNTY TODAY

ST. GEORGE — After a 3-0 start, the Canyon View Falcons got a quick lesson in how to deal with the art of winning and how to build on the momentum that comes from success.

Playing without injured sophomore quarterback Jake Garrett, CV learned how fragile that momentum can be.

Braxton Hickman returned the game’s opening kickoff for a touchdown, and Snow Canyon forced five turnovers on the way to a 49-14 victory over Canyon View on Sept. 4 in the Region 9 opener for both teams. With junior Holden Miller on in place of Garrett, the Warriors (3-0) handily won the battle of unbeaten teams.

“We have to have a next-man-up mentality, but psychologically, when you’re trying to teach a team how to win, that’s a really big obstacle to overcome. Tonight, we didn’t do that,” Canyon View head coach Chris Sawyers said after his team fell to 3-1 on the

“This is a learning experience for us,” Sawyers said while adding praise for Miller’s effort. “When you’re thrown into that situation, he handled it like a man. I’m proud of him.”

Canyon View got the ball to start the second half, but a penalty led to a three-and-out and turned into a 60-yard punt return for a touchdown from Tyden Morris that stretched the lead to 42-7 and brought in a running clock the rest of the way.

“If our special teams are a little better tonight, this is a

Snow Canyon quarterback Landon Frei made it 14-0 later in the first quarter with the first of his two touchdown runs from 15 yards, but CV was able to answer back with a 66-yard drive. Miller finished it off with a 13-yard touchdown pass to Jake Tom to cut the lead to 14-7 with 1 minute, 40 seconds left in the period.

When the Warriors got the ball back, they didn’t take long to answer and take control of the game. Playing in their home opener, Frei put his stamp on the Snow Canyon victory when he threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Jake Hill with 5:17 left.

Canyon View returns home next to play Crimson Cliffs on Friday in a 7 p.m. kickoff. The Mustangs beat the Falcons in last season’s meeting, 33-13, for its first win in school history.

Winning is hard to do

As Region 9 play began this past week, the Cedar Reds and Canyon View Falcons came out of the gate with strong starts. Cedar had a stumble at home against Juab in Week 2, but rebounded nicely with a dismantling of 6A school Taylorsville on the road.

Canyon View started 3-0 for just the second time in school history – 2015 was the other – but found itself with a major obstacle it had to overcome as they faced the Snow Canyon Warriors, the preseason Region 9 favorite playing in its home opener.

With sophomore quarterback Jake Garrett on the sidelines in street clothes after a shoulder injury knocked him out of most of the second half in last week's win over Enterprise, it made the Falcons' task of facing the Warriors that much harder.

When SC quarterback Landon Frei

Hatch helped the offense take advantage with an 8-yard touchdown run late in the third quarter.

As the CV student section cheered, SC's students answered with "scoreboard" with a 42-14 lead.

It's not cute or funny, but fans of the opposition are all part of the process of learning how to win football games. CV may have taken a step back with last week's performance, but with four of the final six games at home, there will be plenty of opportunity to take 10 steps forward.

» Opening night of the PRCA rodeo in Parowan was a busy one at the Iron County Fairgrounds on Sept. 5. With an increase in entries from last year, cowboys are competing for nearly double the purse of a year ago, and it showed on the scoreboard.

Several members of the Wright family competed in the Labor Day portion of the rodeo that was too late for press deadline. Here are the event leaders with some highlights through Day 1:

--Bareback riding: Tilden Hooper, 84.5 points. Hooper is fifth in the standings as the chase for the top 15 and the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo hits the homestretch. He trails No. 4 Clayton Biglow by nearly $1,400.

--Steer wrestling: Dalton Massey, 5.0 seconds. Kansas cowboy Tanner Brunner, who is 11th in the standings, had a 4.9-second run that beat Massey, but he was given a 10-second penalty for breaking the starting barrier too soon.

--Team roping: Robby Farias and Cody Young, 11.3 seconds.

--Saddle bronc: Lefty Holman, 85.5 points. The top four cowboys from this event are all in the top 15 in the WNFR standings with three weeks left in the season. Holman is 13th, Isaac Diaz (83.5) is 12th, Zeke Thurston (2016 world champion) is eighth (83) and Shorty Garrett (84.5) is fourth.

--Tie-down roping: Westyn Hughes, 8.0 seconds. Hughes is ninth in the WNFR standings.

--Bull riding: Roscoe Jarboe, 87.5 points. Jarboe is 12th in the standings and will solidify his position if the lead holds up. Denton Fugate, who is just ahead of Jarboe, scored 81 on his ride and is fourth after Day 1.

A full recap of the PRCA rodeo from Parowan will appear in the Sept. 16 edition.

RANDOM Thoughts

went to work, Canyon View learned that mastering the art of how to win is a lot harder than it looks.

There were bright spots shown by the Falcons. Backup quarterback Holden Miller led an impressive 66-yard drive he capped off with a 13-yard touchdown pass to Jake Tom. With 1 minute, 40 seconds left in the first quarter, Canyon View was within a touchdown of Snow Canyon at 14-7.

It would take exactly 1:46 for Frei to put any doubts about the game's potential competitiveness to rest. The senior scored on a 1-yard run on the first play of the second quarter and before the period was half over, Snow Canyon had a 35-7 lead.

Struggles on special teams reared their ugly heads for the Falcons when they gave up the opening kickoff for a touchdown, then surrendered a punt return for a score after its first possession of the second half went three-and-out.

Penalties were in abundance on both sides, but that was small potatoes for Canyon View to deal with. Frei and the Warriors blew holes in the Falcon secondary that seemed like canyons at times.

Even when there was reason for CV students and fans to cheer, the other side let them know who was boss. After the Falcons recovered a fumble in Snow Canyon territory, running back Gunner
