Major grant awarded to advance research and planning of facility, infrastructure in Cedar City from Utah Inland Port Authority

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The Utah Inland Port Authority, Cedar City, and Iron County Economic Development submitted an application for a Rebuilding American Infrastructure with Sustainability and Equity (RAISE) grant to the U.S. Department of Transportation with the end goal of creating an intermodal logistics center in southern Utah. The first phase of the joint project includes a market assessment and business case analysis for the center and accompanying infrastructure needs. Such projects will help reduce truck traffic on Utah highways by transitioning more cargo to rail for local businesses. This will significantly impact air quality, improve mobility, and add resiliency to Utah's logistics infrastructure.

"We are very excited to receive this grant from USDOT and are looking forward to developing a multimodal logistics hub in southwestern Utah. With support from the Utah Inland Port Authority, Iron County, Cedar City, and Utah's southwestern counties, we are looking to strengthen regional supply chains and to bring great jobs to our corner of the state," said Danny Stewart, Director of Cedar City – Iron County Economic Development.

UIPA, Cedar City, and Iron County Economic Development are pleased to receive this federal grant and look forward to continued partnership and planning in southwestern Utah. The $445,000 will help provide smarter, more sustainable, and more equitable supply chain solutions for the benefit of all Utahns and local businesses. It also enables Cedar City to create more high-paying jobs, attract new business, and leverage 16 solar plants in Iron County to research new zero-emission logistics technology.

"Support from the RAISE grant program enables the Utah Inland Port Authority to connect strategic locations within Utah, like Cedar City and all of southwestern Utah, to coastal ports and other logistics hubs across the country. It brings jobs to rural areas, creates efficiencies within the statewide system, and enables innovation in smart and sustainable logistics technologies. This is yet another critical step in the process of future-proofing Utah's links to the global supply chain," said Jack Hedge, President of the Utah Inland Port Authority.

About Cedar City – Iron County Economic Development

The Office of Economic Development is committed to countywide economic development.

The mandate for this office is to provide rich business resources for the retention, growth, creation, and recruitment of companies to Iron County and Cedar City while focusing on community strengths, resources, and environment. Since its creation in 1988, the Office of Economic Development has helped numerous manufacturing enterprises, retail shops and other businesses find success in the area.

About the Utah Inland Port Authority

The Utah Inland Port Authority (UIPA) provides smart, sustainable, and equitable logistics solutions using a statewide, multimodal approach to increase utilization and expand commerce access throughout Utah. UIPA leverages expertise, facilities and infrastructure, and capital investment to improve logistics within the statewide system. With one-third of Utah's GDP, employment, and incomes dependent on the logistics system, UIPA is future-proofing Utah by creating a robust supply chain and establishing a trade and logistics hub for the Intermountain West.

Standing on hallowed ground, the many athletes, families and friends were on scene to help support the new Red Peak Gym.

Groundbreaking for new gym in Cedar inspires community to climb to new peaks

by Corey Baumgartner

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Last week a groundbreaking of epic proportions took place in Cedar City. What was once a small at-home business, “Tiny Tumblers”, has now, under the care and capabilities of owner and director Kari Louthan, been relocated, rebranded and risen to new heights as Red Peak Gym.

When one hears the word “gym,” they might think of only cramped quarters and sweaty machines, but the new Red Peak Gym will take gymnastics and fitness to higher elevations. This will be Cedar City’s first ever competitive gymnastics, ninja/parkour, & tumbling/cheer training and competition location. The over 12,000+ sq ft gym facility will become a great host site for new sports in our community and hopefully a new host site venue for the Utah Summer Games.

Prior to the official groundbreaking, complete with the iconic golden shovels, Cedar City Mayor Garth Green and many of his grandchildren were on hand to share in the celebration. Mayor Green joined other community leaders and many of the athletes and their families, who attend the current Red Peak Gym located nearby.

“Congratulations Kari on your groundbreaking,” shared Mayor Green. “This is a tremendous asset for our Cedar City children and families.” Also there to celebrate were Travis Larsen and his son Kaidden, both of Travis Larsen Construction, who can now begin digging and preparing the foundation for the new fitness facility.

Speaking of the overall goal of the new Red Peak Gym, Kari shared, “My hope is that people try a new sport and I think they’ll surprise themselves.” She added that gymnastics as a foundation can help both children and adults improve dyslexia, disorders and even help with addictions, as well as improve and prepare them to be a better athlete in every sport they will do in their lives.”

One of the local competitive gymnasts, 13-year-old Zoie Meeks, spoke about why she enjoys competing, going to Red Peak Gym and is looking forward to the new facility. She summed up the empowering project perfectly in three words, “I love it!”

Kari and her team are dedicated to each athlete and their slogan, “Elevate body and mind.” Which is more than a slogan, it’s a call to action.

“Our programs are about the development of the whole, well-rounded person and that includes the Triangle of Growth—Emotional, Physical and Mental wellness.” That’s why the gym also offers education of the mind along with the body.

Currently, the Red Peak Gym offers athletic and academic tutoring/language opportunities, where the aim is to create a fun, family atmosphere with safety & technique at the forefront. Red Peak Gym also offers an adult mobility class & a FREE baby & me class. Business partner, Shannon Evarts, will also represent her Preschool, Cedar Peak Learners (cedarpeaklearners.com) development of Body, Mind and Soul,” explained Kari. She added, “That’s why we’re trying to cultivate bringing out the best “peaks” in a person’s life. When someone leaves a better person because they came to Red Peak Gym, that is a job well done for us.”

Welcome back students

The inevitable has arrived! What seemed like an endless summer break has all but disappeared. That's not such a bad thing considering the opportunities that await you students as you return your designated desks and classrooms.

else involved with and invested in making sure our children are not only educated, but given protection and direction for their lives ahead long after they've made the grade.

Yes, this may also mean more trips to practices and rehearsals, but in the long run, every investment is a potential payoff for a brighter, better future off the field, off the stage and out of the classroom.

But until then, may we each learn to use our education to make our homes and communities better places and along the way to changing the world, don't forget to enjoy the journey!

Some things make perfect sense: Hot dogs at a ballgame... ice cream cones on a hot summer day... salsa at a Super Bowl party... hot cocoa on a wintry Sunday morning... living within your means.

And here's another no-brainer: providing an efficient and rational immigration policy allowing families in unsafe countries a new start and kick-starting our economy.

The votes are here. A Gallup poll earlier this year found that 75% of Americans believe that immigration is a "net positive" for the country and more than two out of three favor a more open policy.

It should be simple. Businesses need workers; the Now Hiring signs aren't coming down. We also need the working dreams of immigrants. The majority of new businesses in the U.S. are created by immigrants, not the self-satisfied "White guys" who are resting on the couch while watching the Cowboys game.

Doctor aims to provide sports medicine at Cedar Orthopedic Surgery Specialty Clinic

from Cathy Wentz

PUBLIC RELATIONS ASSISTANT

Dr. Randy Delcore, medical director of Cedar Orthopedic Surgery Specialty Clinic and Surgery Center (delcore.org), looks forward to welcoming a new partner to his practice. Dr. Sean Davis, who specializes in Sports Medicine, will be joining the practice this month.

Dr. Davis is ecstatic to be returning to Southern Utah to join Dr. Delcore. Originally from a small town in northern Nevada, Dr. Davis knew he wanted to pursue a career in medicine from a young age. He graduated as co-valedictorian from high school before attending and graduating magna cum laude from Southern Utah University in 2011 with a major in Exercise Science and Kinesiology as well as double minors in Chemistry and Biology.

Following his undergraduate degree, Dr. Davis began attending the University of Nevada School of Medicine in Reno in 2012 where he graduated among the top in his class in 2016. He completed his orthopedic residency at the University of Nevada Las Vegas School of Medicine in 2021 before completing an additional year sub-specializing in sports medicine at the Mississippi Sports Medicine and Orthopedic Center this year.

During his time at SUU, Dr. Davis fell in love with the scenic landscape, active lifestyle and, most of all, the passionate community that exists in Southern Utah. He always thought it would be a great place to raise a family, so he and his wife Hillary are so excited to be bringing their young family to Cedar City.

Dr. Davis is currently scheduling to see patients beginning Aug. 22.

Southwestern Heritage Center partners with local groups to preserve history

NEW ORGANIZATION HIGHLIGHTING HERITAGE OF SOUTHWESTERN UTAH BEGINNING TO TAKE SHAPE

by Jay Jones

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

The Southwestern Heritage Center Historical Society (SWHC) has been organized as a non-profit corporation. Plans include a large building to be built at Iron Springs to display items of agricultural, mining, geologic and historical interest, and also to serve as a hub for exploring some of the area's geologic and historic sites.

The goal of the Heritage Center is to provide a safe, family friendly environment where citizens, new move-ins, children, youth, senior citizens, and tourists participate in hands-on experiences tied to different aspects of our southwestern heritage.

A number of historic trails pass directly through or near Iron Springs, including the Old Spanish Trail, the Dominguez-Escalante route, and numerous trails of explorers and pioneers.

Plans for the Heritage Center include the development of an additional 40 miles of OHV (Off Highway Vehicle) trails in the immediate Iron Springs area, in addition to existing trails in the surrounding area.

Partnering with many local organizations, including Iron County schools, the SWHC will be a resource to help individuals remember the trails, places, and people that today's society is built on, while working on improving the trails, places, and people that will make up tomorrow's society.

One of the projects that the SWHC is working on is a collection of "Iron Stories" that emphasize positive character traits, such as optimism, persistence and overcoming adversity. The goal is to make these stories available for local students to refer to in their social studies projects.

Both old timers and newcomers to the area are welcome to share stories and experiences from their own lives or the lives of people they know that teach valuable lessons. These stories can be shared to the website, <http://www.swhchs.org/index.php/story-submission/>

One of the organizations that the SWHC is partnering with is the Southern Utah Rock Club, which is conducting a rock-hounding tour on Saturday, August 20 at 2 p.m. starting at the Iron Springs Resort. A four-wheel drive or off-road vehicle will be required for part of the tour. The tour will conclude with a potluck barbeque. More details of the event can be found at the club's website, <https://www.southernutahrockclub.org>

The Sons of Utah Pioneers is another group that is partnering with the SWHC. They will conduct a tour of about 30 historical markers in the Cedar City and Parowan area. The tour will follow an 9 a.m. breakfast at the outdoor pavilion near the chapel at 1925 West 320 South in Cedar City. All are welcome to join the breakfast and the tour. Information about the historical markers can also be found at <https://www.swhchs.org/index.php/iron-county-monument/>

CVS Health completes rollout of time delay safes in five western states

As part of an ongoing commitment to support law enforcement and help build safer communities, CVS Health® (NYSE: CVS) today announced the installation of time delay safe technology in all 106 CVS Pharmacy locations, including those in Target stores, across five states in the western U.S. The states and corresponding number of pharmacy locations include Utah (30), Colorado (54), Montana (15), Idaho (4) and Wyoming (3).

The safes are anticipated to help prevent pharmacy robberies and the potential for associated diversion of controlled substance medications — including opioid medications such as oxycodone and hydrocodone — by electronically delaying the time it takes for pharmacy employees to open the safe. In addition, the safes are anticipated to benefit the safety and well-being of CVS Pharmacy customers and employees.

“Supporting law enforcement efforts in their battle against organized retail crime remains a key focus for our company,”

Thomas M. Moriarty

The company’s rollout of time delay safe technology is in support of each of these state’s partnership with local and state law enforcement, and the retail community to fight back against escalating organized retail crime.

“Supporting law enforcement efforts in their battle against organized retail crime remains a key focus for our company,” said Thomas M. Moriarty, Chief Policy Officer and General Counsel, CVS Health. “Criminal activities that organized retail crime rings fund are a clear danger to our communities, so it is important that retailers, law enforcement and political leaders work together to solve this problem. Time delay safes can help reduce the theft and diversion of prescription medications and bring added security to our stores which creates a safe environment for our patients and colleagues.”

CVS Health first implemented time delay safe technology in 2015 in CVS Pharmacy locations across Indianapolis, a city experiencing a high volume of pharmacy robberies at the time. The company saw a 70 percent decline in pharmacy robberies among the Indianapolis stores where time delay safes had been installed. Since then, the company has introduced time delay safes across 29 states nationwide, and the District of Columbia, resulting in a 50 percent decline in robberies at CVS pharmacies in those local communities.

The time delay function cannot be overridden and is designed to serve as a deterrent to would-be pharmacy robbers whose goal is to enter and exit their robbery targets as quickly as possible. All CVS Pharmacy locations with this technology display visible signage warning that time delay safes are in use to prevent on-demand access to controlled substance narcotics.

The time delay safe program at CVS Health is one of many company initiatives to help address and prevent prescription medication misuse and diversion.

Presently, the company supports over 4,300 safe medication disposal units in CVS Pharmacy locations and through local law enforcement organizations nationwide. Together, these existing medication disposal units have collected more than 4 million pounds of unwanted medications that might otherwise have been diverted, misused or ended up in the water supply.

Important heat safety tips for families affected by dementia

With a heat wave bringing dangerously high temperatures for tens of millions of Americans, the Alzheimer’s Foundation of America (AFA) is providing important tips to help families affected by Alzheimer’s disease and other dementia-related illnesses keep their loved ones safe.

“The dangers of extreme temperatures, which can cause heat stroke in a matter of minutes, are magnified for someone living with dementia. Dementia-related illnesses can impair a person’s ability to know when they are thirsty or in danger of overheating, communicate basic needs, and remember heat safety protocols,” said Jennifer Reeder, LCSW, SIFI, AFA’s Director of Educational and Social Services. “Taking a few simple precautions can go a long way toward keeping your loved one safe.”

AFA advises family caregivers to take the following steps:

Help the person stay hydrated

Alzheimer’s disease and other dementia-related illnesses can diminish a person’s ability to know when they are thirsty, making it critically important for caregivers to monitor them and encourage them to drink frequently. Avoid alcohol and caffeinated beverages, as these drinks may contribute to dehydration.

Watch for hyperthermia

Dementia-related illnesses can impair a person’s ability to communicate or recognize basic needs, so caregivers cannot solely depend on waiting for the person to express that they are too hot or need to cool off. Hyperthermia is an abnormally high body temperature caused by the body’s inability to regulate heat from the environment. Seniors and people with chronic medical conditions are most at risk. One life-threatening form of hyperthermia is heat stroke, a dangerous elevation in body temperature sparked by exposure to extreme environmental heat or the troublesome mixture of heat and humidity. Watch for warning signs such as excessive sweating, exhaustion, flushed or red skin, muscle cramps, a fast pulse, headaches, dizziness, and nausea.

Watch out for wandering

Wandering is a very common behavior among individuals with Alzheimer’s disease, and it’s also very dangerous, as they can easily become lost or disoriented and not know how, or who, to call for help. It’s even more dangerous in extreme heat conditions, where hyperthermia can develop in a matter of minutes. Wandering can occur when the person has limited stimulation, so be sure to engage the person in physical stimulation by walking around the home, and mental stimulation through activities and engaging in conversations. Ensure the person’s basic needs (water, food, using the restroom, etc.) are being met, as wandering can often stem from an unmet need. Keep a recent photo and medical information on hand, as well as information about familiar destinations they used to frequent, to share with emergency responders to aid in search and rescue efforts if the person does wander.

Look for signs that something is amiss, including hot, dry skin, rapid pulse, dizziness or sudden changes in mental status.

Take immediate action

Resting in an air-conditioned room, removing clothing, applying cold compresses and drinking fluids can help cool the body. If the person faints, exhibits excessive confusion or becomes unconscious, consider this a medical emergency and call 911.

Know where to cool down

Many municipalities will open up air conditioned “cooling centers” where people who do not have air conditioning can go to cool down. These can include senior centers, libraries, community centers and other municipal/public buildings. If your person does not have air conditioning, find out if there are cooling centers are nearby.

Plan ahead

Blackouts and other power failures can sometimes occur during heat waves. Make sure that cell phones, tablets, and other electrical devices are fully charged. Flashlights should be easily accessible in case of a power failure. Have the emergency contact numbers for local utility providers, as well as the police and fire departments, readily accessible.

Have a long-distance plan if necessary

If you don’t live near your loved one, arrange for someone who does to check on them. Inform them of emergency contacts and where important medical information can be found, such as their insurance card. Make sure the person has plenty of water and access to air-conditioning or other cooling mechanisms.

statisticians who have studied the positive impact of immigration. They will tell you that without hard-working immigrants, a country will decline. And some will even note that the Bible encourages a welcoming hand to people in need.

Yes, ask them. Just don’t ask the ultra-conservative congressman who listens, not to his conscience and to science, but to the handful of angry people in their neighborhood caucus meetings.

The racist right-wing supporters claim that there are “hoards at the border” aiming at eliminating our way of life. Actually, there are men, women, and children at the border, victims of gang violence, unable to feed their families, merely wanting to blend in and enrich this country. They are a labor pool; they are also an opportunity for so-called Christians to step up and show they truly care about Christ’s teachings.

Festival actor relates to struggles in 'Trouble in Mind'

by Liz Armstrong

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

Yvette Monique Clark, who is playing the lead role of Wiletta Mayer in the Utah Shakespeare Festival's Trouble in Mind, sees parallels between Wiletta's struggles in the play and her own challenges she has faced as a black performer in a predominantly white industry.

This role is close to Clark's heart because she sees herself in Wiletta. "I relate to the struggles she goes through in the play," Clark said. "It's very taxing on my emotions, because I'm so close to it in that respect."

Clark discovered the play a few years ago. As she was reading, she realized that her and Wiletta's lives paralleled in a "modern-sense." "Like Wiletta, I've had people try to pigeon-hole me into different roles, ... and I've fought that throughout my career."

Clark's goal as the lead is to make Wiletta as "human as possible," and to do playwright Alice Childress's work justice. "I hope someone will point to me and say, 'I have a cousin like that, I have an aunt like that,'" Clark said. "I want to make her as relatable as possible, because if she's relatable, [the audience] will listen to what she has to say."

Clark's acting journey started for her at a young age. "As a child I was an award-winning storyteller," Clark said. "I knew I loved being onstage."

Her career changed direction a bit when she made the decision to pursue singing. "When I was thirty-three and for the Oregon Shakespeare Festival, Gateway Playhouse, Capitol Repertory Theatre, New Harmony Theatre, and internationally with Living Arts Inc. and African Globe Theatreworks, as well as many others.

Additionally, she has acted for the big screen, landing roles in the wildly popular show Orange Is the New Black, as well

This is an exciting season for Clark not only because it's her first season at the Festival, but because the role of the Countess of Rossillion in All's Well That Ends Well is her first Shakespeare role, and the role of Wiletta in Trouble in Mind is her first time being a lead.

Although the play premiered sixty-five years ago, it is only now that it is having its moment in the spotlight. "I wish [Childress] could see this happening now," Clark said. "It's great that people are getting to see this story, and maybe one day it won't be relevant anymore. But that's not what we can say right now."

Ultimately, Clark hopes that the audience recognizes and sees humanity in the play. "As a human community, we forget that other people's situations are different from ours because it's not our reality," Clark said. "I'm hoping this gives them a window into what happens to people of color in all walks of life, in all situations."

my son was about nine-years old, I decided I wanted to start singing. My background is in musical theatre, but as it progressed, I branched off into doing other things," Clark said.

Clark's "branching off" saw success, and she worked as Seasons of Love and Stealing Martin Lane to name a few.

"This is my first time at the Festival," Clark said. "This past year I was at the Denver Center for Performing Arts, the Arrow Rock Lyceum Theatre, and the Depot Theatre."

An open letter to the USF

by Mary Anne Andersen

CEDAR CITY ARTS COUNCIL

I don't know why these comments come my way—well, yes I do know why. For people who know me at all, I am a movable sandwich board for the Utah Shakespeare Festival. People approach me in grocery store lines, at church, or actually call me on the phone to ask my opinion or give me theirs about the USF. A couple of weeks ago at breakfast at Red Acre Farm, we sat across from a couple from back east who were out here visiting. Imagine my horror when they didn't know about the Festival. I started in....

So, yes, I love to attend and talk about the plays and anyone who knows me knows it. So, I am penning an open letter to USF, passing along comments and opinions that aren't mine—for once.

An English teacher and his wife from Las Vegas think our King Lear—notice the proprietary "our"—is the best he's ever seen. He seemed to speak from some experience and I was happy to listen. He liked All's Well... until the last startling 30 seconds and was very sad that they couldn't get tickets for The Tempest. They loved the rather modern programming of Trouble in Mind and really enjoyed The Sound of Music.

Those raves were in contrast to the observations of another couple who travel from some distance each year, see all the plays, and make a yearly financial contribution. They felt they were being "preached to" with Trouble... and thought the Festival had gone too far when they messed with gender and racial roles. Casting Prospero as a duchess instead of a duke and Maria as a Black novice were trying too hard to be big-town theater. They understand the current trend of being "color neutral" but felt that a role depicting an historical figure should be racially authentic. They asked if USF would have cast a White man to play Thurgood Marshall, after all. They want a more traditional experience all around, more like they've been used to here.

I had to explain the listing of the actors' preferred pronouns in the program to someone who then asked why should it matter to her, unless she would be in conversation with the actors, which she didn't expect to be. I told her it was being done in all prestigious companies everywhere, and she just thought the children in ...Music must have been so confused.

"More blood, more blood!" was the plea from a Sweeney Todd fan. We were attending the seminar being chaired by Dr. Isabel Smith-Bernstein, who explained that dealing with too much blood is a costumer's nightmare. She suggested we think of the bloodless bodies all over the stage at the end of the play as very Shakespearean and refer to Hamlet.

I field the usual lamentations about the lack of live musicians and the loss of authentic green shows. Another patron pointed out that she had eaten unwrapped tarts out of a vendor's basket for years and never gotten sick doing it. That one made me smile.

Fun IN THE Mud

The 2023 Iron County Fair got off to a muddy start last Saturday during its annual mud run and mud bog races in Parowan. There was plenty of mud to go around as spectators ran through (and threw) the muddy rut followed by trucks, cars, side-by-sides, a buggy and a motorcycle that braved the treacherous trench filled with mud. The crowds cheered and some rain fell, but the first event of the Fair fared well. Stay tuned (and tuned-up) for next week's event, the Demolition Derby!

“Speed Trap”

It never ceases to educate or entertain me how Rockwell can paint an entire story or scenario into a single scene. While this one appears to be more comical (and contradictory), it still bears a multitude of metaphors for how we can better live our lives.

It's comical because the competent constable waiting alertly and patiently to spring his speed trap has only a stopwatch, whistle and a truncheon—which says something about either the speed of his legs and/or the lack of speed of the vehicles he is watching for. And, though he appears to be hiding, anyone watching for his disrupting trap, wouldn't have a difficult time spotting their demise in time to slow down. Also, while the sign says, “Welcome to Elmvile” the salutation contains within a hint of the hazards that await any helmsman behind the wheel not willing to abide by Elmvile's laws.

Besides the modern-day speed traps put in place for our safety while traveling along the roads of life—and operated by much more qualified (better concealed) constables—what other traps would help you live a better life? True, traps aren't the best motivators for living a better life, but placed appropriately, they can become righteous regulators to help remind (not just reprimand) us that sometimes we need to slow down and enjoy the journey.

Too often we hear (or personally express) the regrets of wishing we had more time, or that time is going by so quickly. Either way, this realization should inspire us to better use the time entrusted to us. Meaning, we should be more concerned about how to better utilize our time, not figuring out better ways to avoid the speed traps. And while it may deceptively appear that our speed is improving the quantity of life, if it is not improving the quality, it's time to slow down.

the rut LESS TRAVELED

Corey Baumgartner
news@ironcountytoday.com

Too often, we (knowing and unknowingly) allow the pace of our lives to detour, even destroy the peace in our lives. We're more afraid of being late, than lost. Yet, it appears too difficult, if not impossible, to keep up in such a speed-demanding world. Yet, it's not difficult to wake up and wonder where a week, month, year or decade has disappeared to.

Perhaps it would be beneficial to put personal “speed traps” in our lives. Instead of (or in addition to) setting alarms telling us when to wake-up for work, eating, or taking a drink, we can set alarms for when it's time to take a break and do something relaxing, fun, or call a loved one. Do you have a “Gratitude” alarm? What about an “I love you” alarm? How about a “Remember you're awesome!” alarm? It may sound silly, but no more silly than thinking because we're always on time, that we're truly using our time wisely.

Today, take time to slow down, even stop—not just to smell the roses, but to plant some. Enjoy life before it passes you by.

Unequal business asset distribution among children

by Jeffery J. McKenna

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

What if your business represents the majority of your estate, but you do not wish your business assets to be distributed equally among your children? There is an alternative to accomplish your objective.

You can create additional liquid assets in your estate at the time of your death which could be used to equalize the assets of the children who are outside the business, with those assets of a child who will inherit your business.

This strategy is accomplished through the use of life insurance held in a trust. The life insurance proceeds are first used to equalize the assets to the three children, and any additional funds can be utilized to pay any death settlement costs, estate taxes, or other expenses.

Often the best vehicle to own and distribute the life insurance proceeds is an Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust, which would hold the insurance death benefits outside of the estate (free of estate tax). This strategy avoids potential family conflicts which might occur if business assets must be divided equally among the children or even sold to equalize the inheritance to the children. Either strategy could dilute your chosen child's ownership to the point where he or she could not function adequately as the majority leader of the business.

Since most small businesses are not liquid and not easily marketed, a forced sale could be financially disastrous and foil your goal of having one child continue the business. The additional influx of liquidity from your Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust, at the exact time it will be needed, can accomplish your objectives.

16th Annual Cool August Nite to provide hope and help

by Corey Baumgartner

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Each year, the benevolent Bradshaws of Bradshaw Chevrolet in Cedar City host a car show. However, this is no ordinary car show. The proceeds are donated to an organization, or person(s) in need of help in the community. This year, Julia and BJ Valerius are the recipients of the community's generosity.

Julia Valerius was diagnosed in December 2020 with ALS—Lou Gehrig's disease. People with ALS endure many hardships, including muscle weakness, exhaustion, severe weight loss and as the disease progresses, loss of speech, ability to move and struggles with breathing.

As Julia courageously battles this disease, her son, BJ, is enduring opposition of his own.

GETTY IMAGES

He was born with Spina Bifida. He cannot feel or move his feet and has severe nerve damage. As such, he crawls around the house, uses his wheelchair for school, church and other activities. Despite all this, he is smart and creative and doesn't really think of himself as unable. He can do his own laundry, do some cooking with help—including washing dishes and other cleaning around the house. BJ has had numerous surgeries to help him and he is an inspiration to many because he usually is smiling and is very independent.

The money raised from this year's car show will help both Julia and BJ not only cover their medical expenses but be able to improve their quality of life as they both battle their challenges.

Join us for this special car show and benefit event on Wednesday, August 24 from 6-9pm at Bradshaw Chevrolet in Cedar City (360 N Main). Registration begins at 5pm or beat the rush and pre-register by coming in to Bradshaw's. Or call (435) 586-6595 to pre-register your vehicle and for questions about the event and donations.

Are we there yet?

We ended our summer with a seven hour road trip with our four kiddos last week. We all had such a great time that a few tears were shed over the end of the vacation, signaling the end of the season. That said, such an enjoyable trip doesn't go off without some serious strategy and a few hitches along the way.

Starting with a seating arrangement, many factors come into play. At the start of the summer we had the kids paired with the oldest two in the back (boy and girl) and the younger two in the front (boy and girl). This was a logical choice since our youngest two still need help with their buckles.

After a month of listening to our oldest daughter complain that "he's touching me!", we decided it was time to mix them up. Things have smoothed out quite well with the two girls together and our oldest next to the baby.

That strategy in play, we started our trip with a bathroom and breakfast stop. We never spring for happy meals but made an exception and it paid off. The kids were highly entertained by the entire concept for three hours and enjoyed their car ride with a full stomach.

Roughly three hours into the trip one kid needed a bathroom break. We could have made one quick pit stop for that child to avoid the hassle of unloading the whole gang, but that would equate to four or five different stops over the course of the drive.

Instead, I packed our two-year-old's little training potty to avoid the necessity of hauling toddlers into a gas station bathroom. Then when one needed to go, we simply pulled off the nearest exit and all of the kids took care of their business quickly and efficiently. In total we made two stops for the entire drive to our destination.

Another important road trip factor is snacks. Is any vacation complete without them? In the past we have made the mistake of letting everyone choose their own at overpriced convenience stores along the way, but by the end of the trip we were way over budget and paying for the sugar overload as well. Since then we have planned ahead by stocking up on a variety of reasonably priced snacks and fruits to distribute along the way.

My husband and I are big advocates for family time. We believe that time on the road together creates opportunities to communicate and capitalize on teaching moments. However, there comes a time on a road trip when the kids need a break from each other and at that point we have no problem taking advantage of modern technology.

Movies and audio books are great ways to break up the trip and cut down on the inevitable question: "Are we there yet?"

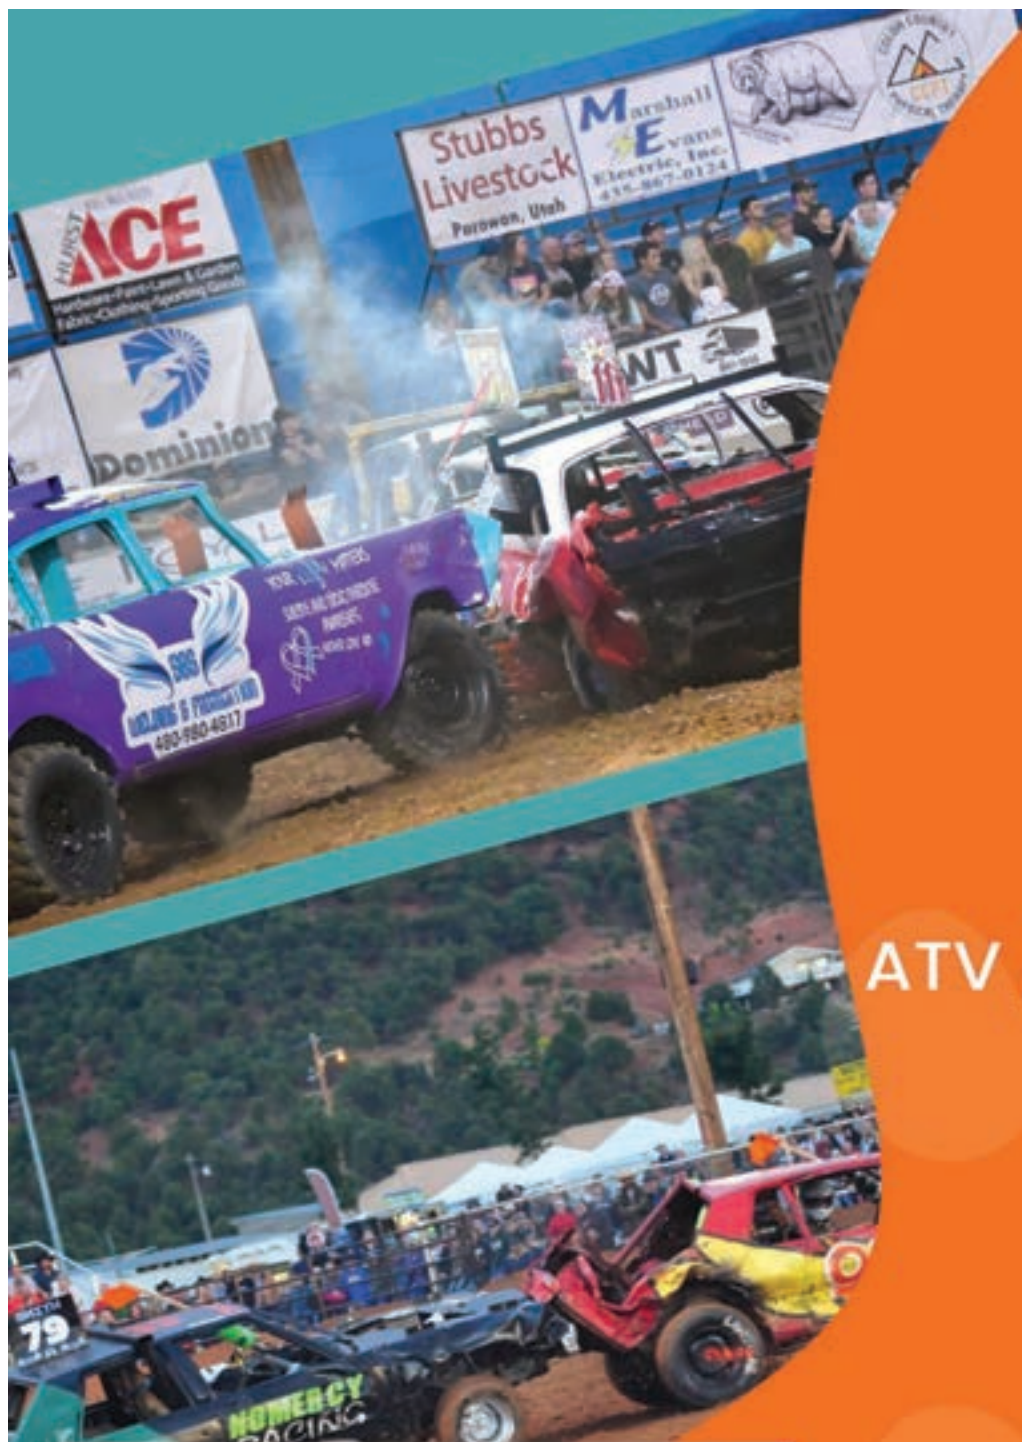

While summer has come to an end with the start of school, it's not too soon to start planning Fall Break vacations. Don't forget to strategize for optimal road trip comfort and make things enjoyable for the whole family!

Amos Burnell Hunt

Amos Burnell Hunt, age 84, peacefully slipped from mortality on August 1, 2022, in his home in Spanish Fork, Utah. On his last day of life, he was surrounded by his wife and children as they reminisced, laughed, cried, prayed, and thanked Heavenly Father for such a worthy husband, father, grandfather, and great-grandfather. Burnell was born May 30, 1938, in Cedar City, Utah, to Jonathan and Agnes Hunt. He spent his childhood in southern Utah, loved by his father and mother, his four brothers, and his little sister. In high school, he performed in the high school operetta and played basketball, being named the Deseret News Mr. Basketball his senior year. He drove truck as part of the family business, hauling hay to California. He rode bulls and bareback broncos on the rodeo circuit under the assumed name Randy Rivers, so his mom wouldn't worry about him when he rode. He graduated from Enterprise High School in 1957 and approached his parents and expressed his desire to serve a mission. They were thrilled with his desire to serve the Lord. His mother told him, "I will scrub toilets to get you there." Burnell was called to serve in the West Central States Mission. Early on he wrote in his journal, "I can see already, this will be my life." It certainly proved prophetic. The rest of his life was spent in service to the Lord. Amos Burnell Hunt was sealed for eternity to the beautiful Velma LaRea Waite on September 2, 1961, in the St. George, Utah Temple. They were married for nearly 61 years and Burnell gave his children the precious gift of loving their mother with all his heart. Burnell taught seminary and institute classes for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for 37 years. His assignments included teaching seminary at the Ogden Reform School and Weber High Seminary, coordinating CES programs in Indiana, and teaching institute in Cedar City, Utah. He loved young people, loved the gospel, and changed lives through his teaching – and matchmaking. Burnell's church service included serving as bishop three times, high council, counselor in a stake presidency, stake president, and mission president for the Philippines Cabanatuan Mission from 1996-1999. The missionaries loved President and Sister Hunt and frequently came to visit right up to the day before he passed away. Burnell is survived by his wife, Velma, his five children: Randy (Robyn), Curtis (Linda), Sandy (Eric), Lorie (Clay), and Shawn (Mandy), his 23 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren, and his brother, Val. He is preceded in death by his father and mother, Jonathan and Agnes Hunt, his siblings Reed, Billie, Paul, and DeAnna, and his lifelong friend, Truce Truman. The family would like to thank Maple Creek Hospice for their outstanding care, love, and support during the family's time of need, especially Karen and Cynthia who were angels to Mom and Dad. The family also wants to express their deepest gratitude to members of the Spanish Oaks Ward for their great kindness, love, and service. A viewing will be held on Friday, August 12 from 6-8 p.m. at Walker Funeral Home in Spanish Fork. Another viewing will be held on Saturday, August 13 from 9:30-10:30 a.m., followed by a funeral at 11 a.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Chapel located at 989 South Spanish Fork Parkway, Spanish Fork, Utah. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.walkeremorials.com.

Melvin Richard Batt

Melvin Richard Batt, 61, passed away peacefully, surrounded by loved ones on August 11, 2022, at his home in Cedar City, Utah following 20 months of battling Glioblastoma Multiforme brain cancer. He was born August 10, 1961, in Cedar City Utah to Richard and Barbara Bayles Batt. He lived in Oklahoma, Nevada, and Arizona until the age of 8, when his family moved to Parowan, Utah, where he grew up and graduated from high school. He then moved to Cedar City, Utah where he met and later married his sweetheart, Sherri Lee Jensen, who he loved and adored. They were married on August 22, 1980, in the Saint George Temple.

Rich was a shy, sweet child with a happy disposition. Even when he was young, he was a hard worker and had an entrepreneurial spirit. Starting at the age of twelve, Rich was a paperboy, mowed lawns, and worked on the farm. He enjoyed his time in school. It was where he spent time with friends, wrestled, played football, and ran cross-country for the Parowan Rams. As an adult, Rich enjoyed working at KSUB as a radio DJ, which later translated into a part-time job as a DJ for his business "Batt Mobile Audio-Video Productions." He DJ'd thousands of events such as school dances, car shows, parades, weddings, outdoor movies and a variety of other programs. He filmed and produced many videos for SUU, Cedar City Chamber of Commerce, Success Academy, and many public schools. He was asked to help with events as far north as Ogden, Utah, down to Las Vegas, Nevada, and even as far as Williams, Arizona on the south rim of the Grand Canyon. While Rich spent his "off-time" as a DJ for events, his primary job was working as a Service Director for Bradshaw Chevrolet. He began working for Bradshaw at the age of 19 and continued working there for 42 years.

Rich dedicated his life to helping others and felt fulfilled when in the service of others. He was an involved husband and parent and is fondly remembered as the dad that came to read with his son's class. He was at his happiest when using his talents as an outdoorsman and adventurer to provide his family with exciting experiences such as boating, snowmobiling, skiing, hunting, and other activities. He was a dedicated member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, where he devoted his time to numerous callings including young men's counselor and president, ward clerk, scoutmaster, and elder's quorum president. He had a special love for the students in the YSA wards where he served as a high councilman and bishop. Rich will be sorely missed by his family, friends, and community.

Rich is survived by his wife, Sherri Batt; son Joshua (Jocelyn) Batt; parents Barbara & Richard Batt (Parowan); father-in-law Morgan Jensen (Toquerville); sister Rachel Stull (Oregon); brothers-in-law Greg (Cindy) Jensen, Shreve Damon, Brett (Tonia) Jensen, Randy (Becca) Jensen, and Kelly (Deborah) Bradford. Rich is survived by nieces and nephews: Charles Bradford, Mandy (Tyrel) Wilcox, Spencer (Shaley) Bradford, Logan (Ashlee) Bradford, Porter Bradford, Melissa Jensen, Joseph (Tasha) Jensen, Rachel (Brett) Dunkley, Erin (Dillon) Corbridge, Samuel Jensen, Cobe Jensen, Garrett Jensen, and Jenna Jensen. The family would like to thank the team at Zion's Way Health and Hospice and the Huntsman Cancer Institute for their excellent care, love, and support.

He is preceded in death by his sister Cindy Bradford, mother-in-law Shirley Jensen, and nephew Tyler Jensen.

Funeral services will be held August 20, 2022, at 11 a.m. at the Cedar West Stake Center (725 S 1100 W, Cedar City, Utah, 84720). Viewings will be held on August 19, 2022, from 6-8 at Southern Utah Mortuary (190 N 300 W, Cedar City, Utah, 84720) and on August 20, 2022, from 10:00-10:45 at the Cedar West Stake Center. Interment will be in the Cedar City Cemetery, under the direction of Southern Utah Mortuary. Online condolences can be sent at www.mortuary.org.

Richard Coston

In the early morning hours of August 10, 2022, Coach Richard Coston slipped away from this earthly existence and into the arms of his Heavenly father. He will forever be remembered as an amazing father, husband and coach.

Richard Coston was born on April 16, 1947, in Canandaigua, New York to Theada Clara Johnson and John Coston. Richard attended grade school in the finger lakes area of New York. He graduated from Canandaigua Academy on June 27, 1966. After graduation, Richard served an LDS Mission to the Western states which encompassed parts of Utah, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona. Richard loved serving the Lord and was able to have a great amount of success thanks to his love and caring personality towards everyone he met.

Following Richard's mission, he attended Ricks College and later went on to finish his bachelor's degree at Brigham Young University in Physical Education. While attending BYU, Richard met and married Christy Beale on August 24, 1972, in Los Angeles, California. Together they had four wonderful children, Tim, Kelly, Tara and Kaiti.

Richard and Christy moved to Southern California where he fell in love with the sport of swimming. He was hired as an assistant coach at the Long Beach Swim Club. It was there that he learned from his mentor Dr. Dick Jochums. Richard and Christy later divorced.

In 1979, while living in Cedar City Richard met his second wife Melinda Morris. They were married on January 19, 1980 in Cedar City, Utah. Their Marriage was later solemnized in the St. George Temple. With Melinda came a son, Cris. Together they had another son, Shawn. Melinda passed away June 26, 1992, following a courageous battle with brain cancer.

In December of 1994 following the death of Melinda, Richard met Marene Palmer. Richard and Marene were married on January 20, 1995, in the St. George LDS Temple. With Marene came four wonderful daughters Cassidy, Shannon, Stacy and Crystal.

In 1979 Richard was named head coach of the Cedar High School Swim Teams. Swimming became a passion of Richard's for many years. He loved to see his swimmers do things in the pool they didn't think were possible. Richard had a way of bringing out the best in his athletes which drove them to success in many areas of their lives. Richard compiled a total of 14 State Championships with 6 of them being consecutive from 1994 to 1999. Richard's teams also won over 30 region championships from the mid-eighties until he retired in 2017. Richard was named Coach Of The Year many times throughout his coaching career and was also named as the Western Zones Coach of the year in 1997. Richard's records will stand for many years as he is one of the winningest coaches in Utah Swimming history.

In late 2018, Richard was hospitalized with pneumonia. This illness started a steady decline in his health. In 2019 he began struggling to breathe and was diagnosed with COPD and the beginning stages of dementia. Richard struggled with the diseases and was later placed on oxygen in 2021. Richard was hospitalized on numerous occasions due to his health issues until his body was no longer able to go on. Throughout Richard's health issues he was determined to fight, he refused to be confined to a wheelchair and rarely used a walker even though he could barely walk. Richard's grit and determination was evident in everything he did.

Richard was an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He served faithfully in many callings in the church including Primary Teacher, Elders Quorum Presidency and High Council for the Cedar Stake. Richard had a strong testimony of the gospel and Savior Jesus Christ. Richard's faith in the Lord helped him through many tough times in his life including the death of his beloved wife Melinda.

Nondenominational community Bible study begins

from Cheryl Disney

FOR IRON COUNTY TODAY

A Precept Upon Precept Bible Study will be held at the Cedar City Public Library (303 N 100 E). The class begins on September 1, from 1-3 pm. It includes a 15-week study of Romans Part 1, chapters 1-5. "Know God deeply, live differently." Workbooks are $31.50 and may be picked up at the library, August 25 from 1-3. Lesson 1, day 1-2, will be discussed in class the first week.

All have sinned. There is none righteous. We are declared righteous by God only by faith in the blood of His Son. Romans 1-5 explains the foundational doctrines of our faith - original sin, justification, redemption, and propitiation. Gain an excellent grasp of the doctrine of salvation!

Precept Upon Precept studies take a straight-forward investigative approach to Bible study. The inductive method will lead attendees to discover truth for themselves by using three skills; Observation, Interpretation and Application. These studies consist of homework, discussion, and DVD lecture by Bible teacher Wayne Barber.

Precept Bible studies are nondenominational. Interested students may call 435-267-2234 or 435-238-3078 for information or to register. Information about Precept Ministries International can be found at www.precept.org.

Patience

by L. Brent Jones

*How often I have tried to wait,
While trying to stay calm.
Thinking that I'm wasting time,
As I wait with sweaty palms.*

*Then my agitation enters in,
And sometimes tempers flare.
While anger takes hold of my life,
And comments then I share.*

*My spirit is set on self-destruct,
And all peace has gone away.
My selfish mind now takes control,
And my nerves then begin to fray.*

*The deceiver has convinced my mind,
That I'm truly justified.
And while my outbursts satisfy my pride,
Anger is all I've tried.*

*Is that person who I really am,
And who I want to be?
For after things are said and done,
It's patience that is the key.*

*If I'll take a moment to relax,
And let the Spirit in,
All agitation goes away,
And healing will begin.*

*As calmness washes over me,
It's peace that regains control,
And removes the unimportant
things,
Bringing comfort to my soul.*

*For it is peace that comes if I will wait,
My countenance will change,
And I'll see past all the trivial
As priorities rearrange.*

*That peace will then lead me down
the path,
Where love is the guiding force,
And changes all that's in my view
And sets me on a better course.*

*A course that leads me to God's love,
And makes me want to share,
That love with everyone I meet,
To show I really care.*

"A Million Miles Away" (Mercy Me)

I'm sure by now you've had a chance to witness some of the wonders being revealed by the James Webb telescope. Yes, while we were (still are) wowed and humbled by Hubble's images of our vast universe, the JW is taking our humility and humanity to deeper levels than few could have perceived, or imagined discovered within such images of inspiration and aspiration.

Ironically, with all its advanced abilities and innovative technologies, should the JW experience technical, mechanical damages, there is no way to repair it. It's moving too fast and too far away for a crew to catch up with it to repair it. According to NASA, the JW has already experienced unrepairable damage when a micrometeoroid (dust-sized particle) hit one of the mirrors and caused "significant uncorrectable change." Thankfully, it's still "fully capable of achieving the discoveries for which it was built."

Even as the most expansive (not just expensive) piece of modern-day marvels mankind has designed and developed, there is one marvel that has never been and never will be duplicated or cloned, and that is the miracle of You!

There is only One in all the universes capable of designing such a miraculous creation, God—your Father in Heaven (Genesis 1:26-31). Interesting note that during the divine design of mortality, God ended each day of creation by saying, "It is good." Yet, on the day He created man and woman, He said, "It is very let alone believe it exists...at least for them. And that is that God not only designed us, but He has the power to reach, reinforce and repair us; even the seemingly "significant uncorrectable changes (sins)" and help us to become more "fully capable of fulfilling the works for which we were designed and created to achieve" (Ephesians 2:10).

Because unlike a telescope or satellite launched from planet Earth, God didn't just create us on some cosmic assembly line and send us hurtling into the vast darkness of humanity without a way to also help and heal us when we are bruised and broken by the detouring, damaging debris every human (child of God) experiences and endures on life's journey.

Despite the micrometeoroids or asteroids in your life, God can repair and restore you through the Atonement of Jesus Christ. That's why you have a Savior (John 3:16-17). He's not a million miles away, or one mile or millimeter away—He is with you always and all ways if you will invite Him in (revelation 3:20) and allow Him to be your Savior and Friend (John 15:13-15). No matter where your life's journey takes you, may your today end in "very good."

good." We are each "fearfully and wonderfully made" (Psalm 139:13-14) with a love that cannot be matched, marred, erased or replaced by any other counterfeit temptations or technologies (Romans 8:31-39).

Which brings us to another part of this miracle of life that unfortunately many have been deceived by their despair and disrepair to see,

"God not only designed us, but He has the power to reach, reinforce and repair us."

The Falcons got a 3-yard touchdown run from Scotty Irons with 3 minutes, 27 seconds left in the third quarter, but the visiting Tigers answered quickly with an 81-yard run by Chet Colvin - his second long-distance score of the night.

With 10:20 left in the fourth, Ogden quarterback Chino Furniss found Kirl Thompson for a 56-yard touchdown pass that put the Tigers in front. Jensen connected with Macias on a 23-yard score with 6:05 remaining, and CV was able to hold on from there to earn its third straight season-opening victory.

Canyon View's Jaxon Jensen connected with Nick Macias in the fourth quarter to elevate the Falcons over the Tigers for the victory.

Asher Groft gave Canyon View its first points of the new season on the first play of the second quarter with a 1-yard touchdown, and Jensen threw a 2-yard pass to Macias that pushed the Falcons' edge to 14-3 with 4:09 left in the half. Ogden would counter on a

Reds fall to Dons in defensive battle

by Tom Zulewski
IRON COUNTY TODAY

For the season opener for 2022, the Cedar Reds had a defense that head coach Josh Bennett called one of the best he's seen in his eight years as a head coach. On Aug. 12, the defense of the visiting Spanish Fork Dons was just a little better and the offense was good enough to leave town with a victory.

Joshua Buck scored the game's only touchdown midway through the second quarter as Spanish Fork held on late for a 10-3 win over Cedar on a cool, comfortable night at Reds Stadium. After allowing the Dons 34 points in last year's opener, Bennett gave the credit where it was clearly due.

"Our defensive coaches had a good game plan, and this team (Spanish Fork) has arguably one of the best running backs in the state of Utah," Bennett said. "We did a good job shutting him down, and I felt our pass defense gave us a chance to stay in the game."

While the defense was a source of strength, the Reds offense struggled throughout the night, generating just four first downs before breaking the shutout with 24 seconds left. Cedar drove from its own 15-yard line to the Dons' 7 without any timeouts. After a penalty pushed the Reds back, Parker

Kucifer missed a 29-yard field goal, but got a second chance when a personal foul penalty was called on the Dons. Kucifer wouldn't miss on the extra opportunity, hitting a 23-yard field goal that put the Reds on the board. Cedar tried an onside kick, but a Reds player touched the football before it went the required 10 yards, giving Spanish Fork the ball and the season-opening win. "We've got to get better offensively, and we will," Bennett said. "We've got to figure some things out and find a way to get our offense rolling and try to match what our defense has done. Spanish Fork is going to be one of the top five teams in 5A this year, and I think we went toe-to-toe with them."

"We could have given up when we were down 10-0, but we scored and almost got the onside kick. Our kids hung in there and gave themselves a chance to win. That says a lot as we go forward."

Spanish Fork got a 29-yard field goal from Carter Jones midway through the third quarter for the game's only other points. Cedar will stay home this week and host the Juab Wasps on Friday at 7 p.m. The Wasps beat Emery, 59-7 in its season opener.

The Cedar City Reds football team are back in action and ready to defend their home turf.

Cedar soccer edges Canyon View

by Tom Zulewski

IRON COUNTY TODAY

Keana Tolman scored four first-half goals, including a pair of penalty kicks, and the Cedar Reds ended a three-game losing streak to their cross-town rival with a 5-1 victory over the Canyon View Falcons at home Aug. 9. Cedar improved to 2-1 on the season while CV fell to 2-2.

Tolman, who has scored in all three games, continued her hot start on the offensive end with a pair of goals 90 seconds apart that staked Cedar to an early 2-0 lead. Maya Nichols answered for Canyon View near the midway point of the half, but the Falcons were whistled for a pair of fouls inside the box in the closing moments. Tolman would score on both penalty kicks to push the lead to 4-1 at the break.

Rylan Tebbs added Cedar's other goal early in the second half, and the match was called after 61 minutes due to lightning and heavy rain in the area.

Both teams ran into weather issues for their other games of last week. Canyon View had its Aug. 11 home match against Pine View postponed to Sept. 1, and Cedar had its Aug. 12 match at Parowan rescheduled to Sept. 19.

Cedar's Rylan Tebbs scores a goal for the Reds in a convincing victory over the Canyon View Falcons.

BLAST FROM THE PAST

COURTESY JEFF MARCHANT

This photo was taken 67 years ago when we were only 1 game away from going to the Williamsport LL World Series. We lost to San Diego in the Western Regional Championship game.

Snow Canyon All-Stars make history

For as long as I've been living in this part of the world, the Utah All-Star baseball and softball tournaments have been a pretty big deal. We've celebrated the winners, and the expectations of success at the West Regional didn't always materialize. The softball girls raised the bar and made four World Series trips in 2008, 2016, 2017 and 2018.

On Friday afternoon, a Utah boys team finally had their moment in the sun. Snow Canyon completed a perfect 3-0 run through the newly-formed Mountain Region with a 7-3 victory over Paseo Verde on Aug. 12 that earned them the first trip to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., that begins today.

For the first time, the field was expanded to 20 teams, and Snow Canyon played in a four-team Mountain Regional in San Bernardino, Calif., along with teams from Montana, Nevada and Wyoming. In its first matchup against Paseo Verde (Henderson), SC rallied from an early 3-0 deficit and capped the comeback with a run in the bottom of the sixth for a 5-4 victory Aug. 9.

Can the SC boys match the 2018 girls softball team that won the Junior League World Series title? Stay tuned. The task won't be easy with four extra teams in the mix, but it's a challenge worth taking on. They open play Friday against the winner of the Southeast-New England matchup at 1 p.m., and all games will be seen on ESPN, ESPN2 and ABC (Channel 4) for the semifinals Aug. 27 and the championship Aug. 28.

Found within the Twitterverse

With a 23-10 victory over the Tennessee Titans, the Baltimore Ravens have won 21 straight... preseason games.

Let's repeat that for proper recognition. The Baltimore Ravens have won 21 straight PRESEASON games. With the preseason schedule reduced to a speck on the schedule, the games at this time of the year have even less meaning than before.

The Ravens haven't lost a preseason game since 2015, but we have two words to offer here.

Who cares? Seriously...who the heck cares? In the big picture that matters, preseason winning rarely translates to regular-season success. Since the "streak" started, the Ravens have missed the playoffs four times (2015-2017, 2021) and haven't gotten out of the Divisional Round in the other three.

Of course, there's the all-time preseason vs. regular season mirror image. The 2008 Detroit Lions were 4-0 in the preseason and became the first team to go 0-16 in NFL history – since duplicated by the 2017 Cleveland Browns, but we digress.

Let the lesson be simple here. Wins and losses in the NFL preseason are not indicators of regular-season success.

Deep thoughts from Week 1 of high-school football

It was nice to see the rain stay away throughout the night Aug. 12, but it seemed Cedar's offense disappeared as they fell 10-3 at home to Spanish Fork. Even after getting only four first downs before the game's final drive, the Reds gave themselves a chance to win when Parker Kucifer got a second chance and hit a 23-yard field goal with 24 seconds left.

With no timeouts, Cedar couldn't come through and recover the onside kick. In his postgame comments, head coach Josh Bennett gave full praise to the defense and he had good reason to do so.

When they played in Spanish Fork in last year's opener, the Dons hung 34 points on the Reds. The signs for optimism are there, but the offense needs to find its momentum as 3A powerhouse Juab visits Friday.

Across town, Canyon View's offense found its footing when it mattered, and the defense stepped up in a 27-23 win over Ogden. The Falcons lost leads of 14-3 and 20-9, but quarterback Jaxon Jensen was clutch with a fourth-quarter touchdown pass to senior Nick Macias.

CV will have four more weeks of non-region games, but with Burke Miller in place as head coach, the focus is in place as the team looks to improve on last year's opening-round playoff victory.

Don't be surprised if good things start to happen. We think they will.

"For as long as I've been living in this part of the world, the Utah All-Star baseball and softball tournaments have been a pretty big deal."

TOM'S SPORTS TRIVIA

It's been a while since we've seen any dynasties in sports. The Boston Celtics haven't won an NBA title since 2008, the New York Yankees haven't won a World Series since 2009 and the Golden State Warriors are the latest darlings fans of other teams love to hate. This week's dozen celebrates teams with extended success, better known as dynasties. Please remember...no wagering!

1. The Golden State Warriors have won four NBA championships in the last eight years, but only one other banner under their current name hangs from the Chase Center rafters. Which team that had won 60 regular-season games did the Warriors sweep to win the title in 1975?

- A. Boston Celtics
- B. Chicago Bulls
- C. Washington Bullets (Wizards)
- D. Philadelphia 76ers

2. The Los Angeles Lakers won back-to-back NBA championships in 1987 and 1988, but were denied a three-peat in 1989 by which team dubbed the "Bad Boys" in a four-game sweep?

- A. Detroit Pistons

- B. Colorado Rockies
- C. San Diego Padres
- D. Arizona Diamondbacks

4. The Atlanta Braves are the defending World Series champions and have won only one other title in its history. Which American League team did the Braves beat in the 1995 Series, the first year following the MLB players strike?

- A. Oakland Athletics
- B. Toronto Blue Jays
- C. Cleveland Indians
- D. Tampa Bay Rays

5. Among the six Super Bowls won by the New England Patriots, the first two came with a field goal on the game's final play. Which kicker, who retired in 2019, booted the winning points?

- A. Morten Andersen
- B. Adam Vinatieri
- C. Gary Anderson
- D. Jason Hanson

6. Before the arrival of Tom Brady on the New England Patriots, the Denver Broncos had a pretty good quarterback of its own who led them to back-to-back Super Bowls in 1997 and 1998. Who was it?

- A. Peyton Manning
- B. John Elway
- C. Gary Kubiak
- D. Elvis Grbac
